IN CALIFORNIA, W. G. McAdoo wins in what was alleged to be a fight between him and Governor Al Smith of New York. The Smith men say "McAdoo has split his party and will not control his delegation." Nineteen hundred and twenty-eight will tell about that.

Hiram Johnson comes out of the fight in control of his party machine. Many politicians have tried to take it away from him, but have not been big enough to do it.

NO AGE limit to intelligence, and Wall street, wise in many things, knows it. George F. Baker is far beyond the three score and ten, but when he speaks casually, the market hops up and down.

He said he didn't look for any extra dividend from United States Steel just now, and that shook the price of Steel.

When he heard that New York Central, selling recently at 117, had gone above 142, he said, "Good. I am glad they are beginning to appreciate that railroad." Up went the price of New York Central.

HOWEVER, don't gamble, if you sold Steel short, you might find no change in dividend rates, but distribution of stock paying the old rate, which would be comforting. On the other hand, if you bought Steel you might discover that Judge Gary's conservatism has converted Messrs. Baker and Morgan, and then the gamblers, impatient for a "quick turn," might give you a shock.

WITH its extraordinary advantage, honestly and ably managed, "Big Steel" will be worth $500 a share some day. But Messrs. Gary and Farrell won't last forever. And the biggest concern can easily be milked from the inside. So, you never know. Don't gamble.

Earning a living as a dressmaker's "manikin," exhibiting clothes that rich women buy, requires versatility. The big dressmakers say "a manikin must be both racy and refined."

It is easy to be racy, easy to be refined. Hard to be both at the same time.

Why Not Knit One Or Two

Right now is the time to get busy on sweaters for school wear. You can't have too many of them, and no girl's nor boy's wardrobe is complete without one.

This bureau is offering a booklet which describes and illustrates the proper and easiest way to cast on stitches, to knit plain, to purl, to increase, to decrease, to bind off. Even though you have never made a sweater before you can go right ahead.

Send for your copy today. Enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

I enclose herewith four cents in stamps for a copy of the KNITTING BOOKLET.

ACCUSED MEN IN DON MELLETT DEATH INQUIRY AWAIT TRIALS

Speedy Action is Promised by Prosecutor McClintock.

SEEK "KEYMAN"

Editor's Widow is Dissatisfied With Grand Jury Report.

CANTON, O., Sept. 4.—With three murder indictments returned by a Stark county grand jury in connection with the slaying of Don R. Mellett, crusading publisher, Canton relaxed today from the seven weeks' strain of awaiting developments in the assassination that rocked the country.

Today Ben Rudner, of Massillon, is in jail here, Louis Mazer, of Canton, is held in Cleveland, and Pat McDermott is hunted the country over following the return of true bills by the grand jury against them.

Tuesday Rudner, and possibly Mazer will be arraigned.

Early trials were promised today by Prosecutor McClintock who declared emphatically that the murder charges against the accused trio would be pushed vigorously.

Indications today pointed to a legal battle in the trials unprecedented in the history of Stark County. Attorneys for the state and defense already have begun shaping their case.

Mazer To Be Arraigned.

It was hinted today that counsel for the defendants, once organized, will immediately ask a change of venue on the ground that it would be impossible for the prisoners to receive a fair and impartial trial in the courts of Stark county.

Unless this is granted, the prisoners will be tried before Judge Alva Deal of the common pleas court.

In the meantime, Mazer, who is now in the Cuyahoga county jail at Cleveland, will be brought back here to enter a plea to the indictment against him and then be kept in the county jail here until the time of trial.

This is the first time that Rudner has been arrested on a charge upon which he could not get bail.

When arrested some years ago by federal authorities he was held until the arrival of a United States marshal and then taken to Cleveland where he and the marshal stayed at a hotel over night. In the morning bail was arranged and he was free until he was taken to Atlanta.

Kascholk Under Bond.

Steve Kascholk, the man who according to his story, was first engaged to take part in beating up Mellett, but who got scared and pulled out of his part of the plan and went to Cleveland, and who, after the murder of the publisher, came to this city and made a clean breast of the plot, has been held under $50,000 bail. Peggy Cavanaugh, Cleveland woman, held as a material witness, has been placed under $10,000 bail. They have been transferred from the county jail to the

Five Warrants Are Issued In Alleged 'Baby Farm' Quiz

Two Physicians and Three Women Sought in State Investigation at Peoria, Ill.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 4.—Five warrants, two of which name prominent physicians, are in the hands of the sheriff for service today as a result of a state investigation into the activities of an alleged "baby farm" here.

The physicians named are Dr. H. H. Whitten and Dr. Bess Artherton.

Miss Gertrude Smith, Miss Emma Woods and Mrs. Leon Pappin are also sought.

State authorities declared they have evidence that 45 illegitimate children were "disposed of" through the baby farm.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED, 40 HOUSES DESTROYED BY TYPHOON IN JAPAN

Another Life Exacted and Several Injured When Terrific Storm Derails Train — Wire Communication Hit.

TOKIO, Sept. 4.—Five persons were killed and 40 houses destroyed when a typhoon swept through Kamio, prefecture of Saitama, it was learned here today. Another person was killed and several injured when the Tochigi passenger train was derailed near Shidzuoka.

Telephone and telegraph lines were blown down by the terrific storm that swept through central Japan. Many ships were unable to leave harbors.

Damage in Tokio was slight, a few trees and poles being blown down. No casualties were reported.

THUMBS DOWN ON SPAIN AND BRAZIL AS GERMANY GETS LEAGUE SEAT

Number of Non-permanent Places Increased to Nine by Action of Council at Geneva.

GENEVA, Sept. 4.—Germany's entrance into the league of nations has been assured, R. Benes, Czecho-Slovakian delegate and chairman of today's session of the league of nations council, said today.

The meeting of the council today which accepted the report of the committee on reorganization, has cleared all obstacles to Germany's entrance to the league, Dr. Benes said.

All that now remains is for the assembly to vote Germany into the league next week.

GENEVA, Sept. 4.—The council of the league of nations today adopted the report of the committee on reorganization of the council without modification.

The report provides for a permanent seat for Germany in the council, as soon as Germany is voted into the league by the assembly.

The number of non-permanent seats in the council are increased to nine.

No permanent seats are provided for either Spain or Brazil.

U. S. Demands Reservations.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—If the powers at Geneva really want the United States in the world court they will have to swallow the senate's reservations whole, without modification, it was stated here today by administration spokesmen anent the seeming reluctance of the powers to accept the fifth reservation.

Word to this effect—it amounts almost to an ultimatum—has been imparted to the statesmen at Geneva by not only the state department's representatives there, but by the father of the reservations himself, Senator Claude A. Swanson (D), of Virginia. The considerable softening in the attitude of some of the nations toward the reservations in the last 48 hours is attributed here to Senator Swanson's work among the delegates.

Anti-Court Strength Grows.

The administration is strongly averse to going back to the senate with any phase of the court issue, such a compromise would entail. Not only would it reopen the whole court fight with resultant bitterness in the face of a not far distant presidential election, but there is also considerable doubt in the minds of President Coolidge's advisers whether two-thirds of

CITY'S FIRST POTTERY OWNER HONORED WITH BRONZE TABLET

Chamber of Commerce Pays Tribute to James Bennett.

MEMORIAL PLATE

Placed in Corridor of Carnegie Public Library.

Memory of James Bennett, who built East Liverpool's first pottery, is honored in a bronze tablet which has been placed in the main corridor of the Carnegie library, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce.

The plate, which measures 24x18 inches, was purchased through contributions made by H. N. Harker, W. E. Wells, William B. Louthan, W. H. Vodrey, M. W. Thompson, D. M. Ogilvie, J. S. Hilbert, Joseph Betz and H. B. Barth.

Under the caption, "In Memoriam James Bennett, the pioneer potter of East Liverpool, Ohio" the plate reads as follows:

"James Bennett built the first pottery in 1839-1840. It was erected at the west end of Second street on ground long since washed away by the Ohio river. The building was 30x40 feet and adjoining it was a small kiln. Early in the spring of 1840 the first kiln of yellow ware was burned—Erected by East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce."

Bennett Born In England.

The raised letters and border are burnished to a soft golden color to form an effective and attractive contrast with the dark, perfectly matted bronze of the back ground. It is hand finished, which brings out every detail in relief and accentuates all the beauty and richness of the coloring.

According to the recent history of Columbiana county, compiled by H. B. Barth, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and one of the contributors to the plate, Bennett, an Englishman, came to the United States from Woodvile, England, at the age of 28 years. He worked for about three years at a pottery in Jersey City, then went to Troy, Ind., where he was employed for another year.

Suffering from ill health, Bennett took a boat up the Ohio river and was iformed by a fellow passenger of the peculiar deposits of clays in and around East Liverpool. He stopped here and found the clays ideal for yellow ware.

Erected Plant in 1839.

Bennett started the erection of a one-kiln plant at the southwest corner of Second and Jefferson street in the fall of 1839. The history says that the first spadefull of earth for the new enterprise was turned over by Anthony Kearns of Pittsburgh and the second by Bennett himself. The main building was two stories, about 30x40 feet and made of hewn timbers, covered with clap-boards, with a roof of shaved oak shingles. The kiln stood alone and was surrounded by a board shed. A "slip" kiln and

TELLS POLICE TO MAKE WELLSVILLE "TIGHTEST TOWN ON OHIO RIVER"

Reinstated Department Head Demands That Patrolmen Arrest All Gamblers and Bootleggers, if any in City, and Confiscate Contraband That May be Found.

"ACCEPT NO CASH FORFEITS, LOCK UP ALL OFFENDERS," IS HIS EDICT

Warning That "All Gossiping Must Stop," He Assigns Force Members to Beats as Acting Chief Newton Begins Two-week Vacation—Court to Act Wednesday.

John H. Fultz, reporting for duty for the second day since his reinstatement as chief of police by an order issued by Common Pleas Judge W. H. Spence, of Lisbon, today served notice that he intended to make "Wellsville one of the tightest towns on the Ohio river" insofar as gambling, bootlegging and other crimes are concerned.

"The lid is on gambling and bootlegging, if any prevails, in Wellsville," was his emphatic statement.

His declaration of war followed instructions issued to the Wellsville patrolmen at city hall in the neighboring city at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, "to bring in all violators."

"If any gamblers and bootleggers are in Wellsville, I intend to arrest them," said Fultz. "Police have been instructed to bring in all offenders and jail them. No cash forfeits will be accepted."

According to the police department head, "every person caught in a gambling or liquor raid will be locked up." "And, furthermore," he declared, "all contraband will be confiscated."

Newton Begins Vacation.

Fultz also issued instructions to the police that "all gossiping in the police department must stop."

He called upon Patrolmen Arthur Newton, John Cole and Edward Pugh to report for duty at 6:30 in the evening, go to work at 7 and remain on the job until 5 in the morning. This is to be the daily rule, Fultz said.

Cole, who was given No. 2 beat, and Pugh, assigned to No. 3 beat, were on duty today with Fultz.

Newton, who was acting chief during the five months and 15 days Fultz was suspended, was not working today, having been granted a two weeks' vacation by Mayor W. L. Fogo. He will be given No. 1 beat.

Mayor Out of City.

Mayor Fogo could not be located today. Attaches at the Wellsville city hall said he was absent from the city.

At Lisbon at noon today, it was announced by Judge Spence that he would hear arguments at 10 o'clock next Wednesday morning on the city's motion for a new trial in the Fultz case. The new trial was asked by Solicitor L. C. Luccock and Attorneys S. W. Crawford and Blaine H. Cochran, who were retained by the city in the court fight. Attorneys Ben L. Bennett and F. E. Grosshans, of East Liverpool, and W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, representing Fultz, will oppose the motion.

Y. & O. Car Service Hit by Damage to High Tension Line

Y. & O. car service between East Liverpool and Lisbon was crippled today as the result of damage done to high tension feed lines at 6:30 o'clock this morning, when a leaking insulator set fire to a wooden cross bar near Apple's crossing, two miles south of Lisbon.

The high tension wires dropped to the telephone lines, causing a short circuit and starting fire in the Y. & O. freight station. Freight station employes discovered the blaze and extinguished it after damage estimated at about $100, had been done.

Power service was handicapped as a result of the break in the line and all cars were operating about a half hour behind schedule this morning. Linemen expected to have the damage repaired by early afternoon.

Weather Bureau Forecasts Showers For Labor Day

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Labor day excursionists may expect showers in many parts of the United States, the weather bureau stated today.

"Showery conditions" extending over the week-end may be expected in the north and middle Atlantic states, the bureau said.

In the upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes regions the weather outlook for the triple holiday is slightly better, although showers may be expected tomorrow.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1926.

School Levy Submitted to Electors

The East Liverpool district schools will re-open Tuesday morning when 5,500 children will enroll, but whether the term shall be nine or six months is up to the electors, for the question is to be submitted at the November 2 election.

This warning was given by the board of education yesterday, when announcement was made of the adoption of a resolution calling for a vote this fall on a proposed tax levy over and beyond the present limitations. And unless this additional revenue is granted, the school authorities will face a deficit of approximately $75,000 at the end of six months.

As means of meeting interest payments and liquidating bonds—and most of it is for buildings which have been in service for many years—the school board seeks a levy not to exceed 2.4 mills. And this millage, which is asked for an indefinite period, is to be decreased annually after 1929.

The board of education is frank about the situation. Pointing out the inroads that the bonded indebtedness makes upon the ordinary sources of revenue, the members tell the taxpayers that the proposed tax levy, if approved, will remain in effect during the life of all outstanding bonds. And these bonds will not be liquidated before 1950.

If the high standards of the East Liverpool school system are to be maintained, more money is needed for operating expenses. Thus the vote call on additional millage which should be approved.

Beautiful Factories

"Why should power plants be ugly?" asks a contributor to a Chicago engineering magazine. He finds that they usually are, in this country.

The esthetic writer doesn't blame anybody for it. He recognizes that in the rapid development of hydro-electric power, it has been natural to concentrate attention on engineering efficiency rather than architectural beauty. Yet the occasional attrativeness of an America poyer plant makes the ugliness, or "dumbness" of the rest all the more glaring, and suggests that it is worth while to pay more attention to looks. He speaks particularly of the lovely Amsterdam power station of the Adirondack Power and Light Corporation on the Mohawk River, in New York State.

Such power plants, with their lack of smoke and dirt, are naturally adapted to artistic treatment. And really, there has been more of such treatment already than the writer seems to think. Several of the small power plants built by Henry Ford in Michigan, alongside of small waterfalls, are said to be surprisingly beautiful. Some progress has been made in Canada, too.

This raise the question whether our coal power plants, also, and our factories in general, could not be made attractive instead of ugly. Here, too, the unfathomable flivver-manufacturer has been setting a good example. His main plant in Detroit is at least not ugly. And there is the remarkable example characteristics of an entire Canadian city, Kitchener, where many factories representing varied industries are spread through the best residence sections, and would never be taken as factories by a passer-by, because they harmonize architecturally with their environment and are clean and quiet.

Vast Wealth From Coal

New processes for the distillation of coal at low temperatures are announced in England which are expected to solve the country's coal mining problem and revolutionize its fuel industry, with stupendous effects on some of the other industries.

By this method, it is said, coal can be turned into coke possessing a higher fuel value than the original coal, and at the same time there can be developed, from the 300,000,000 tons of coal mined per year, by-products worth $3,000,000,000. The by-products include a motor fuel with more "kick" than present gasoline, and large quantities of oil, gas, tar and other valuable commercial products.

That would keep the coal mines busy, when the system was once in operation, and would make plenty of work in allied occupations for any men not needed in the mines. At the same time it would give a big stimulus to various industries, put British industry in general on its feet and add greatly to the national wealth.

If that can be done in England, it can be done in America and other countries with big coal deposits. And there is little question that rapid progress will be made in that direction.

Thus, among numerous pleasant prospects, there is shown a reassuring answer to the oft-repeated question as to what we will do for motor fuel when our petroleum plays out.

The Air Sleeper

A German air liner, appropriately called the Albatross, with full sleeping accommodations, has started service between Berlin and London. It is the first of its kind.

Thus at last is partly realized the dream of Kipling, set forth at the beginning of the century in his prophetic romance, "With the Night Mail."

As yet, however, there is no such airplane available for trans-Atlantic passage. When will American enterprise supply that, and make the epoch complete?

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The street cleaners of New York have always given a certain dignity to their rather lowly calling. When the White Wings parade Fifth Avenue it is a glittering spectacle with their natty white uniforms and shining silver badges.

The White Wings band excels any other city department musical organization. It has often been engaged for auspicious public gatherings. New York fame is often mirrored in topical musical shows and one recently offered a White Wing ballet.

It was a pageant of girls as street sweepers moving across Times Square. The origin of the name White Wings appears rather clouded. Some say it came from England. Others say it was bestowed by a certain New York mayor and still others say it was coined by an editorial writer.

They are all middle aged, cheerful souls whiffling at stub pipes often turned upside down and apparently oblivious to the terrific havoc they wreak upon late sleeping apartment house dwellers with their racket and din.

They are garrulous gossos ow the highways, exchanging banter with policemen, butlers, servant girls and passing pedestrians. They have their sick and benefit funds and any number have reached an independent old age.

Their task is not without its touch of romance and adventure for in "currying the asphalt" they manage to salvage many lost and unclaimed articles out of the debris. They have found well-filled gallets, valuable jewels and articles of gold and silver.

There is the story of a group of White Wings discussing a deceased brother. They spoke of his many amiable qualities. One was rather hesitant but finally grudgingly admitted: "Dan was a fine man, good to his family and loyal, but it always seemed to me he was weak around fireplugs."

It is said that John McE. Bowman, the ace of American hotel builders, is the most difficult man to find in New York. Not that he remains in hiding but because of the countless minor details of hotel management he has to be shielded to devote time to larger problems of his job. He is said to have a dozen offices in New York with trained secretaries on hand. He is liable to pop into any office at any time. Not infrequently does he sneak abroad some liner incognito and remain in isolation in his cabin over and back to be free of interruption.

Speaking of ocean liners, it strikes me auction pool—the betting on the daily run of a ship—is a phase of ocean life that could be abolished. It attracts the worst element of riff-raff gamblers and transatlantic sharpers. It is also pretty well established that auction pools have been "fixed" innumerable times. It is chiefly beneficial to the smoking room stewards who are able to gather annual incomes many times larger than the captains of the ships.

Also I could never quite see why liners charged for deck chairs. It is a slight accomodation that might be accorded those who pay the fare.

A two man band has been enlivening life among Bronx cliff dwellers. One plays a clarinet and the other a bass horn. The acoustics of the court yards are such that the effect is that of a complete band until heads are thrust out the window to investigate, and then there is usually a shower of small change.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

World Needs Bread.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The possibility of a serious world-wide shortage in grain is occupying the attention of students of agriculture and economic conditions in all countries. France and Italy have already taken the precaution of imposing restrictions on the consumption of bread somewhat similar to those which prevailed during the war. How widespread will be the return of war bread cannot yet be ascertained but the apparent looming shortage of bread grains is being regarded by Government officials with considerable foreboding.

The French authorities have even proposed that no bread be sold for consumption until it is stale. The theory of such a measure is that less bread would be consumed if it were relatively unpala table. The restrictions relate solely to the consumption of bread, no shortage in meat or daily products being observable.

The reasons for the shortage lie in unfavorable weather conditions over most of Europe and in some other parts of the world. Floods of almost unprecedented magnitude have destroyed many crops this year. Final estimates are not yet in hand but the International Institute of Agriculture which has its headquarters at Rome is gathering statistics which shortly will become available.

Perhaps the most serious floods were those of the Volga Basin in Russia, one of the greatest wheat-producing regions in the world. These floods were the worst in more than two hundred years. Great stretches of wheat lands were washed out, the planted grain being entirely destroyed. In sections where the harvest had begun, the stores of grain were destroyed. Many buildings were wrecked and the loss of livestock and farming implements also was heavy.

Whereas it had been expected that Russia would be a substantial exporter of wheat this year, it now appears likely that she will have to import rye as a wheat substitute. Similar unfavorable weather afected the Baltic countries, Latvia, and Esthonia and the crops of Poland and East Prussia are reported as unusually light.

Severe rains, accompanied in many instances by disastrous flood also reduced the output of the fields of France, Germany, and milddle Europe. Even Mexico has not escaped the general weather calamities, crop destruction being serious in the Valley of Mexico.

The French wheat crop is officially declared to be 105,000,000 bushels short while that of Italy is 35,000,000 bushels short. Roumania reports a shrinkage of 20,000,000 bushels from the expectation of this wear's production. Altogether, the estimates say, there will be a shortage of at least 150,000,000 bushels in European production.

Such a situation will result in heavier importations from the United States and should bring American farmers high prices for their crops. It has even been suggested in some quarters that prices may rise to a point dictating some such price control as that resorted to during the war.

American Supply Good

The American farmer is in a good position to supply wheat to the consuming nations. There has been an increase of 36,700,000 acres or 18.7 per cent in acreage planted to wheat in 1926 over the 1925 acreage. Other grain crops in this country fall below 1926 and even below the ten year average.

The Department of Agriculture gathers from American farmers figures on their intentions to plant. The figures so far gathered this year indicate an intention to add 14.4 per cent to winter wheat acreage this fall over what was planted a year ago. The prospects are that 45,664,000 acres will be devoted to wheat in the next year. This will be a record crop save for the war years.

In the southern hemisphere, matters are not much better than in Europe. News from the Argentine reports 64,000,000 bushels of wheat less this year than last. Grain production of the other South American countries is not important.

Although the monsoon was favorable in India, nevertheless the crop is not of proportions to allow an exportable surplus. Early in the season a relatively small quantity of wheat was exported but this was stopped.

Taking the world situation as a whole it is estimated that the consuming nations will require grain imports of 850,000,000 bushels. To supply this there seems now available for export by the producing nations not more than 700,000,000 bushels, leaving a marked deficit which will have to be met by sharply curtailed consumption. In all probability high prices alone will have a tendency to restrict consumption but governmental restraints may have to be added to that factor.

Other Grain Crops Short.

In the United States corn is an important crop which, to some extent, takes the place of wheat; it at least supplements the wheat crop. This year, however, according to the Department of Agriculture, the corn crop will fall 328,000,000 bushels below the

George A. Wies at Dayton After Battling Adverse Weather.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 4.—Lloyd Stearman, Wichita, Kans., aviator, enroute to Philadelphia to attend the national air races, today made ready to hop off on the next lap of his trip after making a safe landing here.

Stearman, reported lost in the Allegheny mountains, was forced out of his way and became lost in fog. A squadron of airplanes had carried on a two-day search for him before he landed safely at Langin field here.

DAYTON, O., Sept. 4. — George A. Wies, of New York, was "lost" until today, when he was "found" at the plant of the Johnson Airplane company here, when he had arrived late Thursday night, after a thrilling combat with adverse weather conditions from Kansas City, Mo.

TODAY

The worried manikin might be racy from the knees down, with stockings, refined from the chin up, with the aid of a wistful expression. Some glorified American girls have managed that, but it isn't easy.

SYMPATHIZE with Chicago policemen, ordered to allow no boy or girl in the streets after 10 o'clock at night. They are humiliated when the young lady with stockings rolled down and ordered to go home, turns out to be the dear old grandmother of somebody aged 16. An innocent policeman said to his superior: "Maybe you can tell the difference between 60 and 16, but I can't, unless I get close to their faces, and it is too dark at 10 o'clock."

JACK DEMPSEY, his nose flattened by his fighting profession, needed a better nose for his moving picture profession and had it built from the inside by experts.

Nose building, face lifting experts of Chicago and California are going to law about "who built the nose on Jack's face?"

Tunney alleges that he will make that question important in a few days. On the other hand Wall street bets $11,000 to $5,000 that Dempsey will win the fight, preserving his features and championship.

Two French airmen, Lieut. Charles and Capt. Wieser, have established a new non-stop flying record.

A non-stop flight across the ocean, without any escorting ships of the navy to make it safe, will soon be undertaken. Frenchmen and Americans are quarreling as to who shall go. Not a bad sign when men quarrel for a chance to risk their lives in useful work.

Hint Venue Change

Stark county workhouse where they will be held until after the trial unless in the meantime they are able to furnish the amount of bond required. This will prevent their being molested by any of the friends of Mazer or Rudner.

Prosecutor McClintock has announced that he will not permit any delay in the trial of the cases against Rudner or Mazer. He is in hopes also that before the dates for their trial have been set that Pat McDermott, the third person indicted in the Mellett slaying, will be caught and brought to Stark county.

There is said to be a disposition on the part of the prosecutor to ask for special counsel to aid him in the trial of the murder cases and it was indicated that he will ask for appointment of Joseph B. Roach, who has just left here after having made a wide and searching investigation of vice and crime conditions that is likely to result in the indictment of a score or more of Canton residents by a federal grand jury for participation in a conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws. Roach left here last Tuesday for Chicago to try a number of cases in the Illinois courts but will come back here and go to Cleveland on Sept. 16 to aid United States District Attorney Bernsteen in preparing the conspiracy cases for the federal courts.

Widow Dissatisfied.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—Dissatisfaction with the failure of a Stark county, Ohio, grand jury to indict more persons in connection with the slaying of Don. R. Mellett, Canton publisher, was voiced here today by the publisher's widow, when she learned of the indictment of three for the murder. At the same time she expressed the belief that part of the right "gang" had been indicted and that face with death in the electric chair, some of the defendants would "squeal" and reveal the others involved in the slaying.

"I am sure the jury failed to indict half of the gang involved in the murder of my husband," Mrs. Mellett said, "of course, they could only indict those they had sufficient evidence against, yet, knowing the evidence presented, I don't see how they failed to indict others."

"I don't want any more charged with murder out of revenge," Mrs. Mellett continued, "for the meting out of justice can never bring back the father of these children," she said indicating their four children, Evans, 11, Gene, 9, Betty Lou 8, and Martha Jane, 4, standing beside her chair.

"But Mr. Mellett's campaign against bootlegging and vice must be carried through. The guilty ones must be punished that other innocent children may be protected and the lives of the citizens of Canton made safe from the guns of organized criminals," Mrs. Mellett declared.

"The deaths of these men cannot restore my husband, but it would reestablish the right and duty of the press to work for the betterment of the community which it serves. The cold-blooded shooting of my husband was as much an attack on the press as it was a threat and affront to the law-abiding citizens of Canton, who objected to their city being the sanctum sanctorum of criminals."

Darrow Not Retained.

DENVER, Sept. 4.—"Clarence C. Darrow is a sick man, although he is in no immediate danger nor his illness considered of a serious nature by attending physicians, but he is too ill to undergo the strenuous duties attending a court trial, and I am sure he is not contemplating acting in any capacity whatever in connection with the Don R. Mellett murder case in Canton, O."

This was the information given out at the Darrow summer home in Greely, Colorado, by Miss Thompson, Darrow's secretary, where the noted Chicago lawyer is recuperating from a physical breakdown.

Miss Thompson said that while she could not definitely state whether or not Darrow had been approached by Ben Rudner, Massillon O., hardware dealer, who is in custody in connection with the Mellett case, it was very unlikely that Darrow would consider defending Rudner.

the senate could again be mustered in support of the court issue.

The bloc of 17 votes that opposed adherence last January has been considerably augmented since that time. Four pro-court senators have been defeated for renomination, three others have openly recanted their votes and declared their intention of opposing the court when the issue is again presented in the senate, and at least a half dozen others, according to irreconcilable spokesmen, have privately declared their intention of doing the same thing. This brings the opposition very close to the one-third, or vetoing strength.

SALINEVILLE LACKS WATER

Break in Main Cuts Off Village Supply.

The village of Salineville is suffering from a water famine, as the result of the breaking of the water main, entering the town from the pumping station.

The break occured Thursday morning where the main crosses Yellow Creek at the West End bridge. Pipe is being rushed from Pittsburgh but because of the high waters in the creek, the repair work is handicapped. The broken section will not be replaced before Monday.

Water works department workmen donned bathing suits to raise the broken main.

All wells and cisterns in the town is being used by residents. This is the first time in the history of the town that the water supply has been shut off.

First Pottery Owner

clay grinding apparatus operated by a single horse was placed in the southeastern section of the plant Much of the space about the buildings was used to "weather" the clay by exposure to a softness as to admit of easy mixing.

The first kiln was fired off in the spring of 1840 and, according to the history, "a great crowd assembled to witness the process and view the results of the departure." Bennett presented Mrs. James Logan, who later became the wife of Enoch S. Bradshaw, with the first piece of ware taken from the kiln. This souvenir has been preserved and is now in possession of Mrs. Olivis Bradshaw Reynolds of Chicago.

Bennett was joined by his brothers, Daniel, Edwin and William Bennett and Edward Tunnicliff, another Englishman, in the summer of 1841. Samuel, Jesse, Thomas and John Croxall purchased the plant in 1844 when the Bennetts went east. The Croxalls operated it until 1852 when it was swept away by a flood and never rebuilt. The Croxalls later purchased the Ball & Morris plant, known as the Union pottery, which occupied the present site of the city playgrounds, Second and Washington streets.

COUNCIL WILL MEET TUESDAY

Important legislation will face the city solons when they meet Tuesday evening.

An ordinance, passed on first reading two weeks ago, requiring dealers to weigh all coal instead of measuring it by cubic feet, will be placed on second reading. No opposition developed when the ordinance was considered on the initial reading.

Another measure, creating the position of superintendent of the city reservoir, will be considered.

Other legislation calling for the repeal of the ordinance which made the "Arcadia" sub-division a part of the municipality will also be considered. Solons at a previous session announced their intention of repealing the legislation in order to give property holders opposed to the action an opportunity to voice their protests.

Because of limited finances, the city has decided that it would be impossible to install sewers and make other improvements which might be demanded by persons who bought lots in the sub-division.

Watch Elimination!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste matter in the blood is referred to as a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling, and sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning perfectly at such times is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Many people have learned to assist their kidneys in ridding the blood of these toxic products by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. Doan's Pills are a stimulant diuretic and act on the kidneys only. They have earned a national reputation. Ask your neighbor!

COMPETITION IN WORDS

One who goes into the market to buy a motor car today is naturally confused.

He has read the words best and greatest so often that they have ceased to be convincing. Where all is best, he reflects, there can be no best.

Thousand-dollar cars have been described to him in ten-thousand dollar language. And vice versa.

He finds himself the target in a war of adjectives; the helpless victim in a gigantic competition of words.

And so he is forced to rely on chance—the advice of friends—or his own limited experience.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., have never participated in this verbal competition.

They are content with the position they have long maintained in the far more vital competition of honest value.

They have continued steadily to improve their product, not only in comfort and beauty, but basically—beneath the body and hood where fundamental values lie.

Yet they have not unduly stressed each betterment that has marked the steady progress of their motor car toward a higher perfection.

And when economic conditions or greater sales have permitted them to reduce prices without reducing quality, they have announced the fact without excessive emphasis.

Unexaggerated truth is not spectacular. But in the long run, implicit public confidence has been Dodge Brothers reward, and this they propose to preserve forever by continuing to build just a little better than they tell.

JACK DEMPSEY NOT ALARMED OVER COMEBACK

No Worry Because of Skepticism of Experts.

HE'S CONFIDENT

Gene Tunney Will Devote Day to Leather Pushing.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 4.—Jack Dempsey does not seem to be in the least perturbed because of a succession of experts have looked him over and have grown skeptical about his ability to perform a successful "comeback" in his September 23 outing with Gene Tunney.

"Kind of a funny world this," grinned the champion. "If I step in and belt the wadding out of my sparring partners and thus get myself a nice, snappy workout, I am accused of being too brutal with the boys. When I go on defense, and work for a day or two to block and cunter, why, they all toss up their hands and begin the chant 'ten' over me.

"Which is all fair enough. If they aren't satisfied with my condition just now that's their business. I think I know myself pretty well and I reckon that I'm just about tuned up nicely with three weeks still to go. I'm not aiming to look like a champion murdering a challenger each day in my workout. All I'm set to do is to go along in my own way and when September 23 comes I'll promise to be ready. Beyond that I'm not going to do any promising."

STROUDSBURG, Sept. 4.—Leather pushing and plenty of it will feature the training of Gene Tunney today. After a rest of four days, the challenger for Jack Dempsey's crown will buckle down to the truly serious business of perfecting his condition. The usual nine rounds or so of ring work, the road running and the bag punching will hold their place on the program, but chief diversion will be fighting.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The principle of having the hands slightly in advance of the iron clubhead applies in putting also. Most putting advice has it that the hands should be directly above the ball and the blade at direct right angles to the line This is a very good putting method and works well with many players. I like the hands to be slightly in advance because it appears to insure a cleaner passing of the blade through the ball. Apparently the ball resists the blade less so that the slight hesitation and consequent turning of the blade to one side at the moment of impact is avoided. If you try addressing your putts with the hands in advance of the ball, try it with a wide open stance, with the weight of the left leg and with the ball well back toward the right toe. To your surprise the ball may flop right into the cup.

Chester Reserves Book Double Bill With Bulger Drugs

The Chester Reserves will meet the Bulger Drugs of this city in a double bill on Smith field, Chester, Monday afternoon. The first game will be called at 2 o'clock, while the second will begin at 4.

The two teams met on the Sherwood grounds last evening but the game was called in the third inning by darkness. The Reserves were on the long end of a 7 3 score, when the contest was halted.

Rinkeydinks Play Two Games Sunday At Salineville

The Rinkeydinks of this city will cross bats with the Salineville Boosters in a double header at Salineville Sunday afternoon.

The following players have been requested to report at the Garvey pool room not later than 11 o'clock Sunday morning: R. Hanlon, L. Hanlon, L. Hobbs, C. Hobbs, Garvey, Dyer, Greenwood, Tobin, Banks, Smurthwaite, Watkin, Callahan, Mackey and Amos.

George Douglass Wins High Honors In Rifle Shoot

George Douglass captured high honors in last night's rifle shoot of the East Liverpool Gun club with a score of 183 out of 200. H. Stewart was second with 169. Other scores were as follows: "Doc" Jones 148; J. F. Whiteman 133; G. Menough 114; James Whiteman 155; H. Hillier 139; J. Springer 166; H. Smith 117; W. A. Rymer 151.

A demonstration with the Crossman pneumatic air rifle was also given on the range.

Hank Severeid and Bob Shawkey May be World's Series Battery If Yanks Win

If the Yanks ease themselves into the American League pennant this year Miller Huggins may send in as the battery for one of the world series games Hank Severeid and Bob Shawkey.

Shawkey, he of the red shirt, is the oldest pitcher on the New York club in point of service, having labored with the Gotham team since mid-year 1915, when he was allowed to depart from the Macknen at the waiver price. And he had made his debut in the big show three years before that.

HANK SEVEREID

BOB SHAWKEY

This is the eleventh consecutive season he has hurled in New York.

Old Hank Severeid broke into the big show with the St. Louis Browns the year before Shawkey became a Yank—or in 1914. While Robt. the Valiant was laboreing to help the Yanks win their first pennant and then basking in the glory of two more, the reliable Hankus was struggling to help various and assorted managers make something besides the opposing team out of the Browns. With the exception of one year—1918—Severeid has worked in over 100 games every campaign since 1916.

Shawkey has been a hard working pitcher, albeit with varying success, every year of his service with the Yanks with the exception of the 1918 campaign when he carried out the work or fight order by climbing into a navy uniform. He has won 20 or more games three seasons with the club and had been a winning pitcher for six consecutive years when he fell by the wayside last season.

Bob the Gob has been in four wold's series, but he labored through one with the Athletics and two with the Yanks before he finally won a series game in 1923 against the Giants.

Herb Pennock has been in the big time longer than Shawkey, but since his debut as a Mackman in 1912, has played with Boston and dropped to the minors one year.

Sad Sam Jones broke into the majors with Cleveland in 1914 and played later with Boston before becoming a Yank in 1922.

Waite Hoyt worked one inning for the New York Giants in 1918 and later played with the Red Sox before joining the metropolis outfit in 1921. Urban Shocker, of course, joined the team last year.

The oldest battery in the American league, considering those which remained as a battery pair through the years, consists of course, of Urban Faber and Ray Schalk.

REDS ON HEELS OF ST. LOUIS

Pirates Also Gain as They Defeat Chicago.

By defeating the Cardinals yesterday while the Pirates was knocking off the Cubs in 10 innings, the Cincinnati Reds again tightened the triangular National league race for the pennant. As matters stood this morning, the Cardinals led the Reds by less than a single game and Cincinnati, in turn, was the same distance beyond the Pirates. If the Reds succeed in beating the Cards again this afternoon, they will take the league lead by three points. If the Reds lose, the Pirates can go into second place with another victory over the Cubs.

The Cleveland Indians kept in the running for the American league flag by scoring their eighth straight victory, the Boston Red Sox being the victims. Meantime, the Yankees were getting an even break in Philadelphia, their lead thus being reduced to about 5 1-2 games.

Bancroft and Robbie Like Hornsby's Boys Because They Hustle

Loss of Wright Blow to Pirates, But They are Still in Race—Critics Concede St. Louis Battles in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh Will Count More Than Anything.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Quite a few of the wise men of the east continued to string with the St. Louis Cardinals regardless of the fact that they blocked one neatly with the chin yesterday in Cincinnati. This circumstance permitted both Reds and Pirates to pick up a full game, but seemed in nowise to affect the confidence being reposed hereabouts in Hornsby's outfit.

Dave Bancroft, Boston manager, likes them. Wilbert Robinson, of Brooklyn, likes them. So does the gent on the curb stone because the Cards have captured the popular fancy after the manner of the Washington Senators in 1924.

In fact, every one seems to like them with the possible exception of the Reds and Pirates. They probably hate 'em.

Bancroft's idea is that, everything else being equal, the club that hustles must win. He thinks the Cardinals are that club, but at the same times qualifies his statement by saying that he doesn't count the Pirates out of it. The Reds, he thinks, will not be able to stay with the situation once they start their last swing through the east.

Bancroft's Opinion.

"The St. Louis players fairly sparkle with aggressiveness and, while the Pirates are eager enough, they seem to take too much for granted," Bancroft said. "Their attitude seems to be that what has been done before can be done again and that all they have to do is to keep on playing good baseball and receive the pennant at the end of the season. Of course, they may be right, for the Pirates surely have the class.

"However, I prefer the Cardinals' spirit of fighting for every score, running out every hit and pulling every surprise they can think of. That is the kind of baseball that forces the breaks.

"The recent trouble on the Pirate club may have hurt the team but the biggest handicap is the loss of Wright. It is an entirely different outfit with that fellow in the line-up and, if they had him for the past month, there might have been a different story to tell.

"The Reds are a good, fighting club, too, and with their pitching, they can't go very far wrong. But they are not so good on the road and that is where this race will be won and lost."

The stout Mr. Robinson was not so garrulous and managed to reach a given point in the shortest possible time.

"The Cards looked like the best bet when I saw the three contenders last," he declared. "They surely made a mess out of my ball club. The race is too close, however, for any man to make an accurate prediction at this time but, if I was forced to make a choice, I'd take the Cardinals."

Perhaps the general trend of opinion has been influenced by the fact that St. Louis has a slightly better record against the eastern teams than Pittsburgh and considerable better than Cincinnati. The advantage over the Pirates in this respect is so slight as to be almost negligible, however.

Anyhow, the three remaining games in Cincinnati and the ensuing series in Pittsburgh probably will count more than anything that may happen later. If the Cards can knock off this pair, they won't have to worry about the east. If they can't they may not have to worry about anything.

A TEST OF WHICH WE ARE PROUD

A CONTRACTING Company undertaking one of the largest road jobs now under way in this vicinity wanted the best possible gasoline for their valuable motor equipment. A motor fuel which would produce the maximum of power and yet at the same time not injure in the least those finely machined parts with which it came in contact.

With this in mind they secured samples of four different gasolines sold generally throughout this community and submitted them to the Brownlee Laboratories of Pittsburgh, Pa., national authorities on petroleum products.

The official report showed SUPER-FLASH at the head of the list. That is why they now permit nothing other than SUPER-FLASH gasoline and motor oil to be used in their equipment.

When better gasoline and motor oil can be made we will sell it.

harvest of 1925. Since July 1 last the government has reduced its estimate of corn production by 84,000,000 bushels now is forecast. The Department of Agriculture has stated officially that with the exception of winter wheat and rice all American grain crops will fall below last year, producing definite shortage.

The subject of long distance weather forecasting is one which has provoked much controversy but there is one group of scientists which adheres strongly to the belief that forecasts of weather conditions a year or more in advance are feasible. One school of thought on the subject now is predicting exceptionally unfavorable weather conditions for 1927. Coupled with the short grain crops this year and the fact that stocks are known to be low in nearly every country, such a prediction seems somewhat ominous.

Predictions of world wide shortages amounting almost to famine are being made and farmers are being urged to plant as much as they can cultivate.

The long distance weather forecasters base their predictions on the contion of what in meteorology is known as the solar constant which is the measure of heat thrown off by the sun. It is asserted that changes have been taking place in the solar constant which indicate not only an intensely cold winter but a spring and summer in which temperatures will be far below normal and therefore destructive of crops. Thus, according to the predictions, the world faces a year in which production will be greatly below average, in a state of unpreparedness so far as supplies are concerned.

This year's wheat crop is estimated by the government to be 212,719,000 bushels. Add to this the Canadian crop, estimated at 316,960,000 bushels and a picture of the measure of preparedness of North America is shown.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK ONE—X.

He took Eunice home and left her summarily on the bungalow's porch. She implored him to come in. "Why, you must, Jock! Brad will be so disappointed if he gets home and finds you didn't stop! He'll want to talk ovah the game with you—he's always so excited after a victory, and especially today, when he didn't think they'd win. And I've got tea! Please, Jock!"

"Sorry," Jock said firmly, "but I absolutely can't, Eunice. No this time. I've got to see a man."

There was truth in this, and the man whom he felt he must see was Bones Allen. He wanted to ask Bones many questions. Now. Since the episode of the whispering couple there were things that he felt he must find out, not later, but immediately.

The fraternity house was deserted when he reached it—his roadster had beaten pedestrians home from the game. He went on up to his room and there waited. Within five minutes a bang and a thump and a whoop of laughter announced the first arrivals. Within ten, the noise had grown to an uproar. Some one started the Victrola. Girls brought in their escorts for tea chattered shrilly, all at once, each striving to outchatter the other, as girls will when there are men to hear them. Then there came a stamp of heavy feet on the stairs, and Bones shouted, "Jock! Hey, Jock, are you up there? How's to bring the ole banjo and tweak us a little tune?"

"Come here!" said Jock.

Bones entered. "All the mommas have been paging you, as usual, and I—why, what's happened? Why the owly look?"

Jock spoke with a quiet force that sobered his roommate instantly. "Look here, Bones, I want you to tell me one thing and tell it straight. Just what's the general attitude on Brad Hathaway's wife and myself?"

"You ought to know. They kid you enough, don't they?"

"Sure, they kid me, and I know they think I like her pretty well and all that, but—why Bones, good Lord, they don't really believe there's anything wrong in it, do they?"

Bones hesitated. "Nobody in the fraternity does," he said at last slowly. "But some of the fellows outside who don't know you so well—well, I guess maybe some of them think there is" He scowled darkly "I had to sock one last year," he added.

"Who?"

"Never mind who. He's kept his mouth shut ever since, you don't need to worry about that."

"What did he say?" persisted Jack.

Bones told him.

"He said that? Some low-down skunk said that?" Swiftly as it had blazed up, Jock's anger sank again. "Oh well, hell," he continued, "he was probably somebody whose opinion isn't worth a hoot anyway. But it makes me sore just the same. Why would anybody, no matter who he was, think that? That's what I want to know. Just because I go over there a lot—or used to? Don't they understand that Brad's one of the best friends I've got in the world?"

Again Bones hesitated. "I don't like to razz a woman, particularly one you like, but honest, Jock, if you could hear Mrs. Hathaway talk you'd understand a whole lot better. For instance: remember that house dance we had last year in May? She was one of the chaperones, remember? Well, I heard her telling a roomful of girls and fellows all about how jealous her husband was of you. Boasting about it! Tickled to death about it! And later on I danced with her, and what do you think she said to me? She said, 'I hear you're going to room with my honey next year.' Well, now, what I mean, stuff like that from a married woman doesn't go down so good. It gives a wrong impression, and people who don't know you think—"

"Why, she's crazy!" Jock broke in excitedly. "She's crazy as a coot! Why, I've never even kissed the girl, Bones. I've never looked at her hardly. I don't even like her! And as for Brad being jealous, that's a downright damn lie, and the next time I see her I'm going to—"

"Thing to do," said Bones, "is not to see her. That'll stop the talk quicker than anything else. She can't say much about you if you never go around there, and the minute she quits yapping about it everybody else will. For cryin' out loud what did you take her to the game for?"

"Brad asked me to."

"You were on one side of the cheering-section," Bones went on, "and I was a mile away from you, on the other side. But I'll bet you hadn't been in your seats three minutes before the word came breezing along, 'Jock's got Eunice Hathaway here, and you oughta see the coat she has on!'"

Jock moaned. "That's what started this. Somebody back of us seemed to think I'd given Eunice the coat! At least I'm pretty sure that's what they said. It opened my eyes, I'll tell the world! I'd never thought till that minute that anybody was putting that kind of a construction on the thing." He took up his banjo and picked at one string thoughtfully. "Well, I'm cured," he finished. "I'm through going around there. Brad'll have to come here, from now on, if he and I are going to see each other."

When he went downstairs he was apparently in high spirits. But all the rest of that afternoon his heart was heavy with an odd cold sense of foreboding, insidious, impossible to dispel. "What's the matter with me?" he asked himself savagely. "Why should I feel like this? Nothing can happen as long as I stay away from there! Not a damn thing!"

But still the premonition clung, with clammy fingers.

IN CALIFORNIA, W. G. McAdoo wins in what was alleged to be a fight between him and Governor Al Smith of New York. The Smith men say "McAdoo has split his party and will not control his delegation." Nineteen hundred and twenty-eight will tell about that.

Hiram Johnson comes out of the fight in control of his party machine. Many politicians have tried to take it away from him, but have not been big enough to do it.

NO AGE limit to intelligence, and Wall street, wise in many things, knows it. George F. Baker is far beyond the three score and ten, but when he speaks casually, the market hops up and down.

He said he didn't look for any extra dividend from United States Steel just now, and that shook the price of Steel.

When he heard that New York Central, selling recently at 117, had gone above 142, he said, "Good. I am glad they are beginning to appreciate that railroad." Up went the price of New York Central.

HOWEVER, don't gamble, if you sold Steel short, you might find no change in dividend rates, but distribution of stock paying the old rate, which would be comforting. On the other hand, if you bought Steel you might discover that Judge Gary's conservatism has converted Messrs. Baker and Morgan, and then the gamblers, impatient for a "quick turn," might give you a shock.

WITH its extraordinary advantage, honestly and ably managed, "Big Steel" will be worth $500 a share some day. But Messrs. Gary and Farrell won't last forever. And the biggest concern can easily be milked from the inside. So, you never know. Don't gamble.

Earning a living as a dressmaker's "manikin," exhibiting clothes that rich women buy, requires versatility. The big dressmakers say "a manikin must be both racy and refined."

It is easy to be racy, easy to be refined. Hard to be both at the same time.

Why Not Knit One Or Two

Right now is the time to get busy on sweaters for school wear. You can't have too many of them, and no girl's nor boy's wardrobe is complete without one.

This bureau is offering a booklet which describes and illustrates the proper and easiest way to cast on stitches, to knit plain, to purl, to increase, to decrease, to bind off. Even though you have never made a sweater before you can go right ahead.

ACCUSED MEN IN DON MELLETT DEATH INQUIRY AWAIT TRIALS

Speedy Action is Promised by Prosecutor McClintock.

SEEK "KEYMAN"

Editor's Widow is Dissatisfied With Grand Jury Report.

CANTON, O., Sept. 4.—With three murder indictments returned by a Stark county grand jury in connection with the slaying of Don R. Mellett, crusading publisher, Canton relaxed today from the seven weeks' strain of awaiting developments in the assassination that rocked the country.

Today Ben Rudner, of Massillon, is in jail here, Louis Mazer, of Canton, is held in Cleveland, and Pat McDermott is hunted the country over following the return of true bills by the grand jury against them.

Tuesday Rudner, and possibly Mazer will be arraigned.

Early trials were promised today by Prosecutor McClintock who declared emphatically that the murder charges against the accused trio would be pushed vigorously.

Indications today pointed to a legal battle in the trials unprecedented in the history of Stark County. Attorneys for the state and defense already have begun shaping their case.

Mazer To Be Arraigned.

It was hinted today that counsel for the defendants, once organized, will immediately ask a change of venue on the ground that it would be impossible for the prisoners to receive a fair and impartial trial in the courts of Stark county.

Unless this is granted, the prisoners will be tried before Judge Alva Deal of the common pleas court.

In the meantime, Mazer, who is now in the Cuyahoga county jail at Cleveland, will be brought back here to enter a plea to the indictment against him and then be kept in the county jail here until the time of trial.

This is the first time that Rudner has been arrested on a charge upon which he could not get bail.

When arrested some years ago by federal authorities he was held until the arrival of a United States marshal and then taken to Cleveland where he and the marshal stayed at a hotel over night. In the morning bail was arranged and he was free until he was taken to Atlanta.

Kascholk Under Bond.

Steve Kascholk, the man who according to his story, was first engaged to take part in beating up Mellett, but who got scared and pulled out of his part of the plan and went to Cleveland, and who, after the murder of the publisher, came to this city and made a clean breast of the plot, has been held under $50,000 bail. Peggy Cavanaugh, Cleveland woman, held as a material witness, has been placed under $10,000 bail. They have been transferred from the county jail to the

THUMBS DOWN ON SPAIN AND BRAZIL AS GERMANY GETS LEAGUE SEAT

Number of Non-permanent Places Increased to Nine by Action of Council at Geneva.

GENEVA, Sept. 4.—Germany's entrance into the league of nations has been assured, R. Benes, Czecho-Slovakian delegate and chairman of today's session of the league of nations council, said today.

The meeting of the council today which accepted the report of the committee on reorganization, has cleared all obstacles to Germany's entrance to the league, Dr. Benes said.

All that now remains is for the assembly to vote Germany into the league next week.

GENEVA, Sept. 4.—The council of the league of nations today adopted the report of the committee on reorganization of the council without modification.

The report provides for a permanent seat for Germany in the council, as soon as Germany is voted into the league by the assembly.

The number of non-permanent seats in the council are increased to nine.

No permanent seats are provided for either Spain or Brazil.

U. S. Demands Reservations.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—If the powers at Geneva really want the United States in the world court they will have to swallow the senate's reservations whole, without modification, it was stated here today by administration spokesmen anent the seeming reluctance of the powers to accept the fifth reservation.

Word to this effect—it amounts almost to an ultimatum—has been imparted to the statesmen at Geneva by not only the state department's representatives there, but by the father of the reservations himself, Senator Claude A. Swanson (D), of Virginia. The considerable softening in the attitude of some of the nations toward the reservations in the last 48 hours is attributed here to Senator Swanson's work among the delegates.

Anti-Court Strength Grows.

The administration is strongly averse to going back to the senate with any phase of the court issue, such a compromise would entail. Not only would it reopen the whole court fight with resultant bitterness in the face of a not far distant presidential election, but there is also considerable doubt in the minds of President Coolidge's advisers whether two-thirds of

CITY'S FIRST POTTERY OWNER HONORED WITH BRONZE TABLET

Chamber of Commerce Pays Tribute to James Bennett.

MEMORIAL PLATE

Placed in Corridor of Carnegie Public Library.

Memory of James Bennett, who built East Liverpool's first pottery, is honored in a bronze tablet which has been placed in the main corridor of the Carnegie library, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce.

The plate, which measures 24x18 inches, was purchased through contributions made by H. N. Harker, W. E. Wells, William B. Louthan, W. H. Vodrey, M. W. Thompson, D. M. Ogilvie, J. S. Hilbert, Joseph Betz and H. B. Barth.

Under the caption, "In Memoriam James Bennett, the pioneer potter of East Liverpool, Ohio" the plate reads as follows:

"James Bennett built the first pottery in 1839-1840. It was erected at the west end of Second street on ground long since washed away by the Ohio river. The building was 30x40 feet and adjoining it was a small kiln. Early in the spring of 1840 the first kiln of yellow ware was burned—Erected by East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce."

Bennett Born In England.

The raised letters and border are burnished to a soft golden color to form an effective and attractive contrast with the dark, perfectly matted bronze of the back ground. It is hand finished, which brings out every detail in relief and accentuates all the beauty and richness of the coloring.

According to the recent history of Columbiana county, compiled by H. B. Barth, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and one of the contributors to the plate, Bennett, an Englishman, came to the United States from Woodvile, England, at the age of 28 years. He worked for about three years at a pottery in Jersey City, then went to Troy, Ind., where he was employed for another year.

Suffering from ill health, Bennett took a boat up the Ohio river and was iformed by a fellow passenger of the peculiar deposits of clays in and around East Liverpool. He stopped here and found the clays ideal for yellow ware.

Erected Plant in 1839.

Bennett started the erection of a one-kiln plant at the southwest corner of Second and Jefferson street in the fall of 1839. The history says that the first spadefull of earth for the new enterprise was turned over by Anthony Kearns of Pittsburgh and the second by Bennett himself. The main building was two stories, about 30x40 feet and made of hewn timbers, covered with clap-boards, with a roof of shaved oak shingles. The kiln stood alone and was surrounded by a board shed. TELLS POLICE TO MAKE WELLSVILLE "TIGHTEST TOWN ON OHIO RIVER"

Reinstated Department Head Demands That Patrolmen Arrest All Gamblers and Bootleggers, if any in City, and Confiscate Contraband That May be Found.

"ACCEPT NO CASH FORFEITS, LOCK UP ALL OFFENDERS," IS HIS EDICT

Warning That "All Gossiping Must Stop," He Assigns Force Members to Beats as Acting Chief Newton Begins Two-week Vacation—Court to Act Wednesday.

John H. Fultz, reporting for duty for the second day since his reinstatement as chief of police by an order issued by Common Pleas Judge W. H. Spence, of Lisbon, today served notice that he intended to make "Wellsville one of the tightest towns on the Ohio river," insofar as gambling, bootlegging and other crimes are concerned.

"The lid is on gambling and bootlegging, if any prevails, in Wellsville," was his emphatic statement.

His declaration of war followed instructions issued to the Wellsville patrolmen at city hall in the neighboring city at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, "to bring in all violators."

"If any gamblers and bootleggers are in Wellsville, I intend to arrest them," said Fultz. "Police have been instructed to bring in all offenders and jail them. No cash forfeits will be accepted."

According to the police department head, "every person caught in a gambling or liquor raid will be locked up." "And, furthermore," he declared, "all contraband will be confiscated."

Newton Begins Vacation.

Fultz also issued instructions to the police that "all gossiping in the police department must stop."

He called upon Patrolmen Arthur Newton, John Cole and Edward Pugh to report for duty at 6:30 in the evening, go to work at 7 and remain on the job until 5 in the morning. This is to be the daily rule, Fultz said.

Cole, who was given No. 2 beat, and Pugh, assigned to No. 3 beat, were on duty today with Fultz.

Newton, who was acting chief during the five months and 15 days Fultz was suspended, was not working today, having been granted a two weeks' vacation by Mayor W. L. Fogo. He will be given No. 1 beat.

Mayor Out of City.

Mayor Fogo could not be located today. Attaches at the Wellsville city hall said he was absent from the city.

At Lisbon at noon today, it was announced by Judge Spence that he would hear arguments at 10 o'clock next Wednesday morning on the city's motion for a new trial in the Fultz case. The new trial was asked by Solicitor L. C. Luccock and Attorneys S. W. Crawford and Blaine H. Cochran, who were retained by the city in the court fight. Attorneys Ben L. Bennett and F. E. Grosshans, of East Liverpool, and W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, representing Fultz, will oppose the motion.

Y. & O. Car Service Hit by Damage to High Tension Line

Y. & O. car service between East Liverpool and Lisbon was crippled today as the result of damage done to high tension feed lines at 6:30 o'clock this morning, when a leaking insulator set fire to a wooden cross bar near Apple's crossing, two miles south of Lisbon.

The high tension wires dropped to the telephone lines, causing a short circuit and starting fire in the Y. & O. freight station. Freight station employes discovered the blaze and extinguished it after damage estimated at about $100, had been done.

Power service was handicapped as a result of the break in the line and all cars were operating about a half hour behind schedule this morning. Linemen expected to have the damage repaired by early afternoon.

IN CALIFORNIA, W. G. McAdoo wins in what was alleged to be a fight between him and Governor Al Smith of New York. The Smith men say "McAdoo has split his party and will not control his delegation." Nineteen hundred and twenty-eight will tell about that.

Hiram Johnson comes out of the fight in control of his party machine. Many politicians have tried to take it away from him, but have not been big enough to do it.

NO AGE limit to intelligence, and Wall street, wise in many things, knows it. George F. Baker is far beyond the three score and ten, but when he speaks casually, the market hops up and down.

He said he didn't look for any extra dividend from United States Steel just now, and that shook the price of Steel.

When he heard that New York Central, selling recently at 117, had gone above 142, he said, "Good. I am glad they are beginning to appreciate that railroad." Up went the price of New York Central.

HOWEVER, don't gamble, if you sold Steel short, you might find no change in dividend rates, but distribution of stock paying the old rate, which would be comforting. On the other hand, if you bought Steel you might discover that Judge Gary's conservatism has converted Messrs. Baker and Morgan, and then the gamblers, impatient for a "quick turn," might give you a shock.

WITH its extraordinary advantage, honestly and ably managed, "Big Steel" will be worth $500 a share some day. But Messrs. Gary and Farrell won't last forever. And the biggest concern can easily be milked from the inside. So, you never know. Don't gamble.

Earning a living as a dressmaker's "manikin,' exhibiting clothes that rich women buy, requires versatility. The big dressmakers say "a manikin must be both racy and refined."

It is easy to be racy, easy to be refined. Hard to be both at the same time.

ACCUSED MEN IN DON MELLETT DEATH INQUIRY AWAIT TRIALS

Speedy Action is Promised by Prosecutor McClintock.

SEEK "KEYMAN"

Editor's Widow is Dissatisfied With Grand Jury Report.

CANTON, O., Sept. 4.—With three murder indictments returned by a Stark county grand jury in connection with the slaying of Don R. Mellett, crusading publisher, Canton relaxed today from the seven weeks' strain of awaiting developments in the assassination that rocked the country.

Today Ben Rudner, of Massillon, is in jail here, Louis Mazer, of Canton, is held in Cleveland, and Pat McDermott is hunted the country over following the return of true bills by the grand jury against them.

Tuesday Rudner, and possibly Mazer will be arraigned.

Early trials were promised today by Prosecutor McClintock who declared emphatically that the murder charges against the accused trio would be pushed vigorously.

Indications today pointed to a legal battle in the trials unprecedented in the history of Stark County. Attorneys for the state and defense already have begun shaping their case.

Mazer To Be Arraigned.

It was hinted today that counsel for the defendants, once organized, will immediately ask a change of venue on the ground that it would be impossible for the prisoners to receive a fair and impartial trial in the courts of Stark county.

Unless this is granted, the prisoners will be tried before Judge Alva Deal of the common pleas court.

In the meantime, Mazer, who is now in the Cuyahoga county jail at Cleveland, will be brought back here to enter a plea to the indictment against him and then be kept in the county jail here until the time of trial.

This is the first time that Rudner has been arrested on a charge upon which he could not get bail.

When arrested some years ago by federal authorities he was held until the arrival of a United States marshal and then taken to Cleveland where he and the marshal stayed at a hotel over night. In the morning bail was arranged and he was free until he was taken to Atlanta.

Kascholk Under Bond.

Steve Kascholk, the man who according to his story, was first engaged to take part in beating up Mellett, but who got scared and pulled out of his part of the plan and went to Cleveland, and who, after the murder of the publisher, came to this city and made a clean breast of the plot, has been held under $50,000 bail. Peggy Cavanaugh, Cleveland woman, held as a material witness, has been placed under $10,000 bail. They have been transferred from the county jail to the

Y. & O. Car Service Hit by Damage to High Tension Line

Y. & O. car service between East Liverpool and Lisbon was crippled today as the result of damage done to high tension feed lines at 6:30 o'clock this morning, when a leaking insulator set fire to a wooden cross bar near Apple's crossing, two miles south of Lisbon.

The high tension wires dropped to the telephone lines, causing a short circuit and starting fire in the Y. & O. freight station. Freight station employes discovered the blaze and extinguished it after damage estimated at about $100, had been done.

Power service was handicapped as a result of the break in the line and all cars were operating about a half hour behind schedule this morning. Linemen expected to have the damage repaired by early afternoon.

School Levy Submitted to Electors

The East Liverpool district schools will re-open Tuesday morning when 5,500 children will enroll, but whether the term shall be nine or six months is up to the electors, for the question is to be submitted at the November 2 election.

This warning was given by the board of education yesterday, when announcement was made of the adoption of a resolution calling for a vote this fall on a proposed tax levy over and beyond the present limitations. And unless this additional revenue is granted, the school authorities will face a deficit of approximately $75,000 at the end of six months.

As means of meeting interest payments and liquidating bonds—and most of it is for buildings which have been in service for many years—the school board seeks a levy not to exceed 2.4 mills. And this millage, which is asked for an indefinite period, is to be decreased annually after 1929.

The board of education is frank about the situation. Pointing out the inroads that the bonded indebtedness makes upon the ordinary sources of revenue, the members tell the taxpayers that the proposed tax levy, if approved, will remain in effect during the life of all outstanding bonds. And these bonds will not be liquidated before 1950.

If the high standards of the East Liverpool school system are to be maintained, more money is needed for operating expenses. Thus the vote call on additional millage which should be approved.

Beautiful Factories

"Why should power plants be ugly?" asks a contributor to a Chicago engineering magazine. He finds that they usually are, in this country.

The esthetic writer doesn't blame anybody for it. He recognizes that in the rapid development of hydro-electric power, it has been natural to concentrate attention on engineering efficiency rather than architectural beauty. Yet the occasional attrativeness of an America poyer plant makes the ugliness, or "dumbness" of the rest all the more glaring, and suggests that it is worth while to pay more attention to looks. He speaks particularly of the lovely Amsterdam power station of the Adirondack Power and Light Corporation on the Mohawk River, in New York State.

Such power plants, with their lack of smoke and dirt, are naturally adapted to artistic treatment. And really, there has been more of such treatment already than the writer seems to think. Several of the small power plants built by Henry Ford in Michigan, alongside of small waterfalls, are said to be surprisingly beautiful. Some progress has been made in Canada, too.

This raise the question whether our coal power plants, also, and our factories in general, could not be made attractive instead of ugly. Here, too, the unfathomable flivver-manufacturer has been setting a good example. His main plant in Detroit is at least not ugly. And there is the remarkable example characteristics of an entire Canadian city, Kitchener, where many factories representing varied industries are spread through the best residence sections, and would never be taken as factories by a passer-by, because they harmonize architecturally with their environment and are clean and quiet.

Vast Wealth From Coal

New processes for the distillation of coal at low temperatures are announced in England which are expected to solve the country's coal mining problem and revolutionize its fuel industry, with stupendous effects on some of the other industries.

By this method, it is said, coal can be turned into coke possessing a higher fuel value than the original coal, and at the same time there can be developed, from the 300,000,000 tons of coal mined per year, by-products worth $3,000,000,000. The by-products include a motor fuel with more "kick" than present gasoline, and large quantities of oil, gas, tar and other valuable commercial products.

That would keep the coal mines busy, when the system was once in operation, and would make plenty of work in allied occupations for any men not needed in the mines. At the same time it would give a big stimulus to various industries, put British industry in general on its feet and add greatly to the national wealth.

If that can be done in England, it can be done in America and other countries with big coal deposits. And there is little question that rapid progress will be made in that direction.

Thus, among numerous pleasant prospects, there is shown a reassuring answer to the oft-repeated question as to what we will do for motor fuel when our petroleum plays out.

The Air Sleeper

A German air liner, appropriately called the Albatross, with full sleeping accommodations, has started service between Berlin and London. It is the first of its kind.

Thus at last is partly realized the dream of Kipling, set forth at the beginning of the century in his prophetic romance, "With the Night Mail."

As yet, however, there is no such airplane available for trans-Atlantic passage. When will American enterprise supply that, and make the epoch complete?

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The street cleaners of New York have always given a certain dignity to their rather lowly calling. When the White Wings parade Fifth Avenue it is a glittering spectacle with their natty white uniforms and shining silver badges.

The White Wings band excels any other city department musical organization. It has often been engaged for auspicious public gatherings. New York fame is often mirrored in topical musical shows and one recently offered a White Wing ballet.

It was a pageant of girls as street sweepers moving across Times Square. The origin of the name White Wings appears rather clouded. Some say it came from England. Others say it was bestowed by a certain New York mayor and still others say it was coined by an editorial writer.

They are all middle aged, cheerful souls whiffling at stub pipes often turned upside down and apparently oblivious to the terrific havoc they wreak upon late sleeping apartment house dwellers with their racket and din.

They are garrulous gossos ow the highways, exchanging banter with policemen, butlers, servant girls and passing pedestrians. They have their sick and benefit funds and any number have reached an independent old age.

Their task is not without its touch of romance and adventure for in "currying the asphalt" they manage to salvage many lost and unclaimed articles out of the debris. They have found well-filled gallets, valuable jewels and articles of gold and silver.

There is the story of a group of White Wings discussing a deceased brother. They spoke of his many amiable qualities. One was rather hesitant but finally grudgingly admitted: "Dan was a fine man, good to his family and loyal, but it always seemed to me he was weak around fireplugs."

It is said that John McE. Bowman, the ace of American hotel builders, is the most difficult man to find in New York. Not that he remains in hiding but because of the countless minor details of hotel management he has to be shielded to devote time to larger problems of his job. He is said to have a dozen offices in New York with trained secretaries on hand. He is liable to pop into any office at any time. Not infrequently does he sneak abroad some liner incognito and remain in isolation in his cabin over and back to be free of interruption.

Speaking of ocean liners, it strikes me auction pool—the betting on the daily run of a ship—is a phase of ocean life that could be abolished. It attracts the worst element of riff-raff gamblers and transatlantic sharpers. It is also pretty well established that auction pools have been "fixed" innumerable times. It is chiefly beneficial to the smoking room stewards who are able to gather annual incomes many times larger than the captains of the ships.

Also I could never quite see why liners charged for deck chairs. It is a slight accomodation that might be accorded those who pay the fare.

A two man band has been enlivening life among Bronx cliff dwellers. One plays a clarinet and the other a bass horn. The acoustics of the court yards are such that the effect is that of a complete band until heads are thrust out the window to investigate, and then there is usually a shower of small change.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

World Needs Bread.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The possibility of a serious world-wide shortage in grain is occupying the attention of students of agriculture and economic conditions in all countries. France and Italy have already taken the precaution of imposing restrictions on the consumption of bread somewhat similar to those which prevailed during the war. How widespread will be the return of war bread cannot yet be ascertained but the apparent looming shortage of bread grains is being regarded by Government officials with considerable foreboding.

The French authorities have even proposed that no bread be sold for consumption until it is stale. The theory of such a measure is that less bread would be consumed if it were relatively unpala table. The restrictions relate solely to the consumption of bread, no shortage in meat or daily products being observable.

The reasons for the shortage lie in unfavorable weather conditions over most of Europe and in some other parts of the world. Floods of almost unprecedented magnitude have destroyed many crops this year. Final estimates are not yet in hand but the International Institute of Agriculture which has its headquarters at Rome is gathering statistics which shortly will become available.

Perhaps the most serious floods were those of the Volga Basin in Russia, one of the greatest wheat-producing regions in the world. These floods were the worst in more than two hundred years. Great stretches of wheat lands were washed out, the planted grain being entirely destroyed. In sections where the harvest had begun, the stores of grain were destroyed. Many buildings were wrecked and the loss of livestock and farming implements also was heavy.

Whereas it had been expected that Russia would be a substantial exporter of wheat this year, it now appears likely that she will have to import rye as a wheat substitute. Similar unfavorable weather afected the Baltic countries, Latvia, and Esthonia and the crops of Poland and East Prussia are reported as unusually light.

Severe rains, accompanied in many instances by disastrous flood also reduced the output of the fields of France, Germany, and middle Europe. Even Mexico has not escaped the general weather calamities, crop destruction being serious in the Valley of Mexico.

The French wheat crop is officially declared to be 105,000,000 bushels short while that of Italy is 35,000,000 bushels short. Roumania reports a shrinkage of 20,000,000 bushels from the expectation of this wear's production. Altogether, the estimates say, there will be a shortage of at least 150,000,000 bushels in European production.

Such a situation will result in heavier importations from the United States and should bring American farmers high prices for their crops. It has even been suggested in some quarters that prices may rise to a point dictating some such price control as that resorted to during the war.

American Supply Good

The American farmer is in a good position to supply wheat to the consuming nations. There has been an increase of 36,700,000 acres or 18.7 per cent in acreage planted to wheat in 1926 over the 1925 acreage. Other grain crops in this country fall below 1926 and even below the ten year average.

The Department of Agriculture gathers from American farmers figures on their intentions to plant. The figures so far gathered this year indicate an intention to add 14.4 per cent to winter wheat acreage this fall over what was planted a year ago. The prospects are that 45,064,000 acres will be devoted to wheat in the next year. This will be a record crop save for the war years.

In the southern hemisphere, matters are not much better than in Europe. News from the Argentine reports 64,000,000 bushels of wheat less this year than last. Grain production of the other South American countries is not important.

Although the monsoon was favorable in India, nevertheless the crop is not of proportions to allow an exportable surplus. Early in the season a relatively small quantity of wheat was exported but this was stopped.

Taking the world situation as a whole it is estimated that the consuming nations will require grain imports of 850,000,000 bushels. To supply this there seems now available for export by the producing nations not more than 700,000,000 bushels, leaving a marked deficit which will have to be met by sharply curtailed consumption. In all probability high prices alone will have a tendency to restrict consumption but governmental restraints may have to be added to that factor.

Other Grain Crops Short.

In the United States corn is an important crop which, to some extent, takes the place of wheat; it at least supplements the wheat crop. This year, however, according to the Department of Agriculture, the corn crop will fall 328,000,000 bushels below the

"LOST" FLYERS READY TO HOP OFF TO EXPO

Lloyd Stearman is Forced to Land at Moundsville, W. Va.

FOG IS BLAMED

George A. Wies at Dayton After Battling Adverse Weather.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 4.—Lloyd Stearman, Wichita, Kans., aviator, enroute to Philadelphia to attend the national air races, today made ready to hop off on the next lap of his trip after making a safe landing here.

Stearman, reported lost in the Allegheny mountains, was forced out of his way and became lost in fog. A squadron of airplanes had carried on a two-day search for him before he landed safely at Langin field here.

DAYTON, O., Sept. 4. — George A. Wies, of New York, was "lost" until today, when he was "found" at the plant of the Johnson Airplane company here, when he had arrived late Thursday night, after a thrilling combat with adverse weather conditions from Kansas City, Mo.

Wies was unaware of the fact that he was "missing" and that a search was being conducted for him.

"The worst flying weather I ever encountered—between Kansas City and Dayton Thursday," Wies said.

He was to leave today for Moundsville, W. Va., where he expected to pick up Lloyd Stearman, also reported lost, whom Wies is to pilot over the Allegheny mountains to Philadelphia, where they are to compete in the national air races.

The worried manikin might be racy from the knees down, with stockings, refined from the chin up, with the aid of a wistful expression. Some glorified American girls have managed that, but it isn't easy.

SYMPATHIZE with Chicago policemen, ordered to allow no boy or girl in the streets after 10 o'clock at night. They are humiliated when the young lady with stockings rolled down and ordered to go home, turns out to be the dear old grandmother of somebody aged 16. An innocent policeman said to his superior: "Maybe you can tell the difference between 60 and 16, but I can't, unless I get close to their faces, and it is too dark at 10 o'clock."

JACK DEMPSEY, his nose flattened by his fighting profession, needed a better nose for his moving picture profession and had it built from the inside by experts.

Nose building, face lifting experts of Chicago and California are going to law about "who built the nose on Jack's face?"

Tunney alleges that he will make that question important in a few days. On the other hand Wall street bets $11,000 to $5,000 that Dempsey will win the fight, preserving his features and championship.

Two French airmen, Lieut. Charles and Capt. Wieser, have established a new non-stop flying record.

A non-stop flight across the ocean, without any escorting ships of the navy to make it safe, will soon be undertaken. Frenchmen and Americans are quarreling as to who shall go. Not a bad sign when men quarrel for a chance to risk their lives in useful work.

Hint Venue Change

Stark county workhouse where they will be held until after the trial unless in the meantime they are able to furnish the amount of bond required. This will prevent their being molested by any of the friends of Mazer or Rudner.

Prosecutor McClintock has announced that he will not permit any delay in the trial of the cases against Rudner or Mazer. He is in hopes also that before the dates for their trial have been set that Pat McDermott, the third person indicted in the Mellett slaying, will be caught and brought to Stark county.

There is said to be a disposition on the part of the prosecutor to ask for special counsel to aid him in the trial of the murder cases and it was indicated that he will ask for appointment of Joseph B. Roach, who has just left here after having made a wide and searching investigation of vice and crime conditions that is likely to result in the indictment of a score or more of Canton residents by a federal grand jury for participation in a conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws. Roach left here last Tuesday for Chicago to try a number of cases in the Illinois courts but will come back here and go to Cleveland on Sept. 16 to aid United States District Attorney Bernsteen in preparing the conspiracy cases for the federal courts.

Widow Dissatisfied.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—Dissatisfaction with the failure of a Stark county, Ohio, grand jury to indict more persons in connection with the slaying of Don. R. Mellett, Canton publisher, was voiced here today by the publisher's widow, when she learned of the indictment of three for the murder. At the same time she expressed the belief that part of the right "rang" had been indicted and that faced with death in the electric chair, some of the defendants would "squeal" and reveal the others involved in the slaying.

"I am sure the jury failed to indict half of the gang involved in the murder of my husband," Mrs. Mellett said, "of course, they could only indict those they had sufficient evidence against, yet, knowing the evidence presented, I don't see how they failed to indict others."

"I don't want any more charged with murder out of revenge," Mrs. Mellett continued, "for the meting out of justice can never bring back the father of these children," she said indicating their four children, Evans, 11, Gene, 9, Betty Lou 8, and Martha Jane, 4, standing beside her chair.

"But Mr. Mellett's campaign against bootlegging and vice must be carried through. The guilty ones must be punished that other innocent children may be protected and the lives of the citizens of Canton made safe from the guns of organized criminals," Mrs. Mellett declared.

"The deaths of these men cannot restore my husband, but it would reestablish the right and duty of the press to work for the betterment of the community which it serves. The cold-blooded shooting of my husband was as much an attack on the press as it was a threat and affront to the law-abiding citizens of Canton, who objected to their city being the sanctum sanctorum of criminals."

Darrow Not Retained.

DENVER, Sept. 4.—"Clarence C. Darrow is a sick man, although he is in no immediate danger nor his illness considered of a serious nature by attending physicians, but he is too ill to undergo the strenuous duties attending a court trial, and I am sure he is not contemplating acting in any capacity whatever in connection with the Don R. Mellett murder case in Canton, O."

This was the information given out at the Darrow summer home in Greely, Colorado, by Miss Thompson, Darrow's secretary, where the noted Chicago lawyer is recuperating from a physical breakdown.

Miss Thompson said that while she could not definitely state whether or not Darrow had been approached by Ben Rudner, Massillon O., hardware dealer, who is in custody in connection with the Mellett case, it was very unlikely that Darrow would consider defending Rudner.

EIGHTH OHIO PLANS REUNION OVER WEEK-END

"McKinley's Own" Will Meet in Mansfield Sunday.

TWO-DAY EVENT

Veterans Will Pay Tribute of Respect to Deceased.

Members of the Old Eighth Ohio, "McKinley's Own," will fight the Santiago campaign of '98 over again and will pay a tribute of respect to the memory of their deceased comrades at the annual reunion which they will hold at Mansfield on Sunday and Monday, Sept. 5 and 6.

Thomas M. Bell, of Mansfield, president of the Regimental association, advises that the citizens of Mansfield have planned to show the veterans a good time. Headquarters will be at Memorial building, Park avenue, west, where the veterans will register. Memorial services will be held Sunday afternoon and there will be a camp fire Sunday night at Memorial hall.

Monday morning the veterans will be taken to the country for breakfast. Dinner will be served at the Elks' home at noon Monday. Official hotel quarters will be at the Vonhof hotel. The veterans have been urged to bring members of their families with them.

The Eighth Ohio mobilized for duty at Akron, April 26, 1898 and was in camp at Samp Bushnel, Columbus, O., and Camp Alger, near Washington, D. C., before participating in the expedition to Cuba which resulted in the capture of the city of Santiago and the capitulation of the Spanish forces.

The "Eighth" was commanded by the late Col. Curtis V. Hard of Wooster. Former United States Senator Charles Dick of Akron was lieutenant colonel. General Edward Vollrath of Bucyrus, Attorney Frederick C. Bryan of Washington, and the late General Charles C. Weybrecht of Alliance were the regiments majors.

The regiment was composed of the following companies: A, Bucyrus; B, Akron; C, Polk; D, Wooster; E, East Liverpool; F, Canton; G, Wadsworth; H, Shreve; I, Canton; K, Alliance; L, Canton; M, Mansfield.

The third battalion, composed of the Akron, Wadsworth, Alliance and East Liverpool companies, known as "Weybrecht's Bulldogs," sends word it will have a large attendance at the reunion.

Dr. Frank Fowler Will Preach Sunday On Labor Subjects

First Pottery Owner

clay grinding apparatus operated by a single horse was placed in the southeastern section of the plant Much of the space about the buildings was used to "weather" the clay by exposure to a softness as to admit of easy mixing.

The first kiln was fired off in the spring of 1840 and, according to the history, "a great crowd assembled to witness the process and view the results of the departure." Bennett presented Mrs. James Logan, who later became the wife of Enoch S. Bradshaw, with the first piece of ware taken from the kiln. This souvenir has been preserved and is now in possession of Mrs. Olivis Bradshaw Reynolds of Chicago.

Bennett was joined by his brothers, Daniel, Edwin and William Bennett and Edward Tunnicliff, another Englishman, in the summer of 1841. Samuel, Jesse, Thomas and John Croxall purchased the plant in 1844 when the Bennetts went east. The Croxalls operated it until 1852 when it was swept away by a flood and never rebuilt. The Croxalls later purchased the Ball & Morris plant, known as the Union pottery, which occupied the present site of the city playgrounds, Second and Washington streets.

BENEFIT SOCIAL AT GLENMOOR

Special Fire Fund Entertainment Next Tuesday.

Fifth of a series of entertainments for the benefit of the fund to purchase fire fighting equipment to be installed in the Glenmoor-Ross Meadows district will be an old fashioned pie social to be given in the Glenmoor Athletic hall at Stop 55 on the Y. & O. railroad next Tuesday evening.

Mrs. A. G. Kraft is chairman of the committee. Pies will be sold to the highest bidder.

Approximately $1,000 more must be raised to meet the cost of fire fighting equipment. A fire alarm system has been installed, while a large trailer type chemical engine and several smaller outfits are sought. The committee plans to have the equipment fully paid for before it is installed.

More than 100 new homes have been erected in the Glenmoor-Ross Meadows district during the last three years. Two serious fires in the neighborhood recently prompted the move for fire equipment.

Thumbs Down

the senate could again be mustered in support of the court issue.

The bloc of 17 votes that opposed adherence last January has been considerably augmented since that time. Four pro-court senators have been defeated for renomination, three others have openly recanted their votes and declared their intention of opposing the court when the issue is again presented in the senate, and at least a half dozen others, according to irreconcilable spokesmen, have privately declared their intention of doing the same thing. This brings the opposition very close to the one-third, or vetoing strength.

SALINEVILLE LACKS WATER

Break in Main Cuts Off Village Supply.

The village of Salineville is suffering from a water famine, as the result of the breaking of the water main, entering the town from the pumping station.

The break occured Thursday morning where the main crosses Yellow Creek at the West End bridge. Pipe is being rushed from Pittsburgh but because of the high waters in the creek, the repair work is handicapped. The broken section will not be replaced before Monday.

Water works department workmen donned bathing suits to raise the broken main.

All wells and cisterns in the town is being used by residents. This is the first time in the history of the town that the water supply has been shut off.

The worried manikin might be racy from the knees down, with stockings, refined from the chin up, with the aid of a wistful expression. Some glorified American girls have managed that, but it isn't easy.

SYMPATHIZE with Chicago policemen, ordered to allow no boy or girl in the streets after 10 o'clock at night. They are humiliated when the young lady with stockings rolled down and ordered to go home, turns out to be the dear old grandmother of somebody aged 16. An innocent policeman said to his superior: "Maybe you can tell the difference between 60 and 16, but I can't, unless I get close to their faces, and it is too dark at 10 o'clock."

JACK DEMPSEY, his nose flattened by his fighting profession, needed a better nose for his moving picture profession and had it built from the inside by experts.

Nose building, face lifting experts of Chicago and California are going to law about "who built the nose on Jack's face?"

Tunney alleges that he will make that question important in a few days. On the other hand Wall street bets $11,000 to $5,000 that Dempsey will win the fight, preserving his features and championship.

Two French airmen, Lieut. Charles and Capt. Wieser, have established a new non-stop flying record.

A non-stop flight across the ocean, without any escorting ships of the navy to make it safe, will soon be undertaken. Frenchmen and Americans are quarreling as to who shall go. Not a bad sign when men quarrel for a chance to risk their lives in useful work.

Hint Venue Change

Stark county workhouse where they will be held until after the trial unless in the meantime they are able to furnish the amount of bond required. This will prevent their being molested by any of the friends of Mazer or Rudner.

Prosecutor McClintock has announced that he will not permit any delay in the trial of the cases against Rudner or Mazer. He is in hopes also that before the dates for their trial have been set that Pat McDermott, the third person indicted in the Mellett slaying, will be caught and brought to Stark county.

There is said to be a disposition on the part of the prosecutor to ask for special counsel to aid him in the trial of the murder cases and it was indicated that he will ask for appointment of Joseph B. Roach, who has just left here after having made a wide and searching investigation of vice and crime conditions that is likely to result in the indictment of a score or more of Canton residents by a federal grand jury for participation in a conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws. Roach left here last Tuesday for Chicago to try a number of cases in the Illinois courts but will come back here and go to Cleveland on Sept. 16 to aid United States District Attorney Bernsteen in preparing the conspiracy cases for the federal courts.

Widow Dissatisfied.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—Dissatisfaction with the failure of a Stark county, Ohio, grand jury to indict more persons in connection with the slaying of Don. R. Mellett, Canton publisher, was voiced here today by the publisher's widow, when she learned of the indictment of three for the murder. At the same time she expressed the belief that part of the right "gang" had been indicted and that faced with death in the electric chair, some of the defendants would "squeal" and reveal the others involved in the slaying.

"I am sure the jury failed to indict half of the gang involved in the murder of my husband," Mrs. Mellett said, "of course, they could only indict those they had sufficient evidence against, yet, knowing the evidence presented, I don't see how they failed to indict others."

"I don't want any more charged with murder out of revenge," Mrs. Mellett continued, "for the meting out of justice can never bring back the father of these children," she said indicating their four children, Evans, 11, Gene, 9, Betty Lou 8, and Martha Jane, 4, standing beside her chair.

"But Mr. Mellett's campaign against bootlegging and vice must be carried through. The guilty ones must be punished that other innocent children may be protected and the lives of the citizens of Canton made safe from the guns of organized criminals," Mrs. Mellett declared.

"The deaths of these men cannot restore my husband, but it would reestablish the right and duty of the press to work for the betterment of the community which it serves. The cold-blooded shooting of my husband was as much an attack on the press as it was a threat and affront to the law-abiding citizens of Canton, who objected to their city being the sanctum sanctorum of criminals."

Darrow Not Retained.

DENVER, Sept. 4.—"Clarence C. Darrow is a sick man, although he is in no immediate danger nor his illness considered of a serious nature by attending physicians, but he is too ill to undergo the strenuous duties attending a court trial, and I am sure he is not contemplating acting in any capacity whatever in connection with the Don R. Mellett murder case in Canton, O."

This was the information given out at the Darrow summer home in Greely, Colorado, by Miss Thompson, Darrow's secretary, where the noted Chicago lawyer is recuperating from a physical breakdown.

Miss Thompson said that while she could not definitely state whether or not Darrow had been approached by Ben Rudner, Massillon O., hardware dealer, who is in custody in connection with the Mellett case, it was very unlikely that Darrow would consider defending Rudner.

Members of the Old Eighth Ohio, "McKinley's Own," will fight the Santiago campaign of '98 over again and will pay a tribute of respect to the memory of their deceased comrades at the annual reunion which they will hold at Mansfield on Sunday and Monday, Sept. 5 and 6.

Thomas M. Bell, of Mansfield, president of the Regimental association, advises that the citizens of Mansfield have planned to show the veterans a good time. Headquarters will be at Memorial building, Park avenue, west, where the veterans will register. Memorial services will be held Sunday afternoon and there will be a camp fire Sunday night at Memorial hall.

The Eighth Ohio mobilized for duty at Akron, April 26, 1898 and was in camp at Samp Bushnel, Columbus, O., and Camp Alger, near Washington, D. C., before participating in the expedition to Cuba which resulted in the capture of the city of Santiago and the capitulation of the Spanish forces.

The "Eighth" was commanded by the late Col. Curtis V. Hard of Wooster. Former United States Senator Charles Dick of Akron was lieutenant colonel. General Edward Vollrath of Bucyrus, Attorney Frederick C. Bryan of Washington, and the late General Charles C. Weybrecht of Alliance were the regiments majors.

The regiment was composed of the following companies: A, Bucyrus; B, Akron; C, Polk; D, Wooster; E, East Liverpool; F, Canton; G, Wadsworth; H, Shreve; I, Canton; K, Alliance; L, Canton; M, Mansfield.

The third battalion, composed of the Akron, Wadsworth, Alliance and East Liverpool companies, known as "Weybrecht's Bulldogs," sends word it will have a large attendance at the reunion.

First Pottery Owner

clay grinding apparatus operated by a single horse was placed in the southeastern section of the plant Much of the space about the buildings was used to "weather" the clay by exposure to a softness as to admit of easy mixing.

The first kiln was fired off in the spring of 1840 and, according to the history, "a great crowd assembled to witness the process and view the results of the departure." Bennett presented Mrs. James Logan, who later became the wife of Enoch S. Bradshaw, with the first piece of ware taken from the kiln. This souvenir has been preserved and is now in possession of Mrs. Olivis Bradshaw Reynolds of Chicago.

Bennett was joined by his brothers, Daniel, Edwin and William Bennett and Edward Tunnicliff, another Englishman, in the summer of 1841. Samuel, Jesse, Thomas and John Croxall purchased the plant in 1844 when the Bennetts went east. The Croxalls operated it until 1852 when it was swept away by a flood and never rebuilt. The Croxalls later purchased the Ball & Morris plant, known as the Union pottery, which occupied the present site of the city playgrounds, Second and Washington streets.

Thumbs Down

the senate could again be mustered in support of the court issue.

The bloc of 17 votes that opposed adherence last January has been considerably augmented since that time. Four pro-court senators have been defeated for renomination, three others have openly recanted their votes and declared their intention of opposing the court when the issue is again presented in the senate, and at least a half dozen others, according to irreconcilable spokesmen, have privately declared their intention of doing the same thing. This brings the opposition very close to the one-third, or vetoing strength.

SALINEVILLE LACKS WATER

Break in Main Cuts Off Village Supply.

The village of Saline ville is suffering from a water famine, as the result of the breaking of the water main, entering the town from the pumping station.

The break occured Thursday morning where the main crosses Yellow Creek at the West End bridge. Pipe is being rushed from Pittsburgh but because of the high waters in the creek, the repair work is handicapped. The broken section will not be replaced before Monday.

Water works department workmen donned bathing suits to raise the broken main.

All wells and cisterns in the town is being used by residents. This is the first time in the history of the town that the water supply has been shut off.

COUNCIL WILL MEET TUESDAY

Important legislation will face the city solons when they meet Tuesday evening.

An ordinance, passed on first reading two weeks ago, requiring dealers to weigh all coal instead of measuring it by cubic feet, will be placed on second reading. No opposition developed when the ordinance was considered on the initial reading.

Another measure, creating the position of superintendent of the city reservoir, will be considered.

Other legislation calling for the repeal of the ordinance which made the "Arcadia" sub-division a part of the municipality will also be considered. Solons at a previous session announced their intention of repealing the legislation in order to give property holders opposed to the action an opportunity to voice their protests.

Because of limited finances, the city has decided that it would be impossible to install sewers and make other improvements which might be demanded by persons who bought lots in the sub-division.

A THOROUGH, EFFECTIVE, PLEASANT PHYSIC

Foley Cathartic Tablets, a wholesome, satisfying physic, thoroughly cleanse the bowels, sweeten the stomach, tone up the liver. For indigestion, biliousness, bad breath, headache and gas pains, due to a constipated condition, no remedy is more highly recommended. Wm. O. E. Bielke, Hancock, Mich., says: "I have given Foley Cathartic Tablets a thorough trial and I can honestly recommend them as a sure and pleasing laxative. They work without griping." COUNCIL WILL MEET TUESDAY

Important legislation will face the city solons when they meet Tuesday evening.

An ordinance, passed on first reading two weeks ago, requiring dealers to weigh all coal instead of measuring it by cubic feet, will be placed on second reading. No opposition developed when the ordinance was considered on the initial reading.

Another measure, creating the position of superintendent of the city reservoir, will be considered.

Other legislation calling for the repeal of the ordinance which made the "Arcadia" sub-division a part of the municipality will also be considered. Solons at a previous session announced their intention of repealing the legislation in order to give property holders opposed to the action an opportunity to voice their protests.

Because of limited finances, the city has decided that it would be impossible to install sewers and make other improvements which might be demanded by persons who bought lots in the sub-division.

Watch Elimination!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste matter in the blood is referred to as a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling, and sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneysare not functioning perfectly at such times is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Many people have learned to assist their kidneys in ridding the blood of these toxic products by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. Doan's Pills are a stimulant diuretic and act on the kidneys only. They have earned a national reputation. Ask your neighbor!

COMPETITION IN WORDS

One who goes into the market to buy a motor car today is naturally confused.

He has read the words best and greatest so often that they have ceased to be convincing. Where all is best, he reflects, there can be no best.

Thousand-dollar cars have been described to him in ten-thousand dollar language. And vice versa.

He finds himself the target in a war of adjectives; the helpless victim in a gigantic competition of words.

And so he is forced to rely on chance—the advice of friends—or his own limited experience.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., have never participated in this verbal competition.

They are content with the position they have long maintained in the far more vital competition of honest value.

They have continued steadily to improve their product, not only in comfort and beauty, but basically—beneath the body and hood where fundamental values lie.

Yet they have not unduly stressed each betterment that has marked the steady progress of their motor car toward a higher perfection.

And when economic conditions or greater sales have permitted them to reduce prices without reducing quality, they have announced the fact without excessive emphasis.

Unexaggerated truth is not spectacular. But in the long run, implicit public confidence has been Dodge Brothers reward, and this they propose to preserve forever by continuing to build just a little better than they tell.

Watch Elimination!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste matter in the blood is referred to as a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling, and sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneysare not functioning perfectly at such times is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Many people have learned to assist their kidneys in ridding the blood of these toxic products by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. Doan's Pills are a stimulant diuretic and act on the kidneys only. They have earned a national reputation. Ask your neighbor!

"Kind of a funny world this," grinned the champion. "If I step in and belt the wadding out of my sparring partners and thus get myself a nice, snappy workout, I am accused of being too brutal with the boys. When I go on defense, and work for a day or two to block and cunter, why, they all toss up their hands and begin the chant 'ten' over me.

"Which is all fair enough. If they aren't satisfied with my condition just now that's their business. I think I know myself pretty well and I reckon that I'm just about tuned up nicely with three weeks still to go. I'm not aiming to look like a champion murdering a challenger each day in my workout. All I'm set to do is to go along in my own way and when September 23 comes I'll promise to be ready. Beyond that I'm not going to do any promising."

STROUDSBURG, Sept. 4.—Leather pushing and plenty of it will feature the training of Gene Tunney today. After a rest of four days, the challenger for Jack Dempsey's crown will buckle down to the truly serious business of perfecting his condition. The usual nine rounds or so of ring work, the road running and the bag punching will hold their place on the program, but chief diversion will be fighting.

INSIDE GOLF

The principle of having the hands slightly in advance of the iron clubhead applies in putting also. Most putting advice has it that the hands should be directly above the ball and the blade at direct right angles to the line This is a very good putting method and works well with many players. I like the hands to be slightly in advance because it appears to insure a cleaner passing of the blade through the ball. Apparently the ball resists the blade less so that the slight hesitation and consequent turning of the blade to one side at the moment of impact is avoided. If you try addressing your putts with the hands in advance of the ball, try it with a wide open stance, with the weight of the left leg and with the ball well back toward the right toe. To your surprise the ball may flop right into the cup.

George Douglass captured high honors in last night's rifle shoot of the East Liverpool Gun club with a score of 183 out of 200. H. Stewart was second with 169. Other scores were as follows: "Doc" Jones 148; J. F. Whiteman 133; G. Menough 114; James Whiteman 155; H. Hillier 139; J. Springer 166; H. Smith 117; W. A. Rymer 151.

Hank Severeid and Bob Shawkey May be World's Series Battery If Yanks Win

If the Yanks ease themselves into the American League pennant this year Miller Huggins may send in as the battery for one of the world series games Hank Severeid and Bob Shawkey.

Shawkey, he of the red shirt, is the oldest pitcher on the New York club in point of service, having labored with the Gotham team since mid-year 1915, when he was allowed to depart from the Mackmen at the waiver price. And he had made his debut in the big show three years before that.

HANK SEVEREID

BOB SHAWKEY

This is the eleventh consecutive season he has hurled in New York.

Old Hank Severeid broke into the big show with the St. Louis Browns the year before Shawkey became a Yank—or in 1914. While Robt. the Valiant was laboreing to help the Yanks win their first pennant and then basking in the glory of two more, the reliable Hankus was struggling to help various and assorted managers make something besides the opposing team out of the Browns. With the exception of one year—1918—Severeid has worked in over 100 games every campaign since 1916.

Shawkey has been a hard working pitcher, albeit with varying success, every year of his service with the Yanks with the exception of the 1918 campaign when he carried out the work or fight order by climbing into a navy uniform. He has won 20 or more games three seasons with the club and had been a winning pitcher for six consecutive years when he fell by the wayside last season.

Bob the Gob has been in four wold's series, but he labored through one with the Athletics and two with the Yanks before he finally won a series game in 1923 against the Giants.

Herb Pennock has been in the big time longer than Shawkey, but since his debut as a Mackman in 1912, has played with Boston and dropped to the minors one year.

Sad Sam Jones broke into the majors with Cleveland in 1914 and played later with Boston before becoming a Yank in 1922.

Waite Hoyt worked one inning for the New York Giants in 1918 and later played with the Red Sox before joining the metropolis outfit in 1921. Urban Shocker, of course, joined the team last year.

The oldest battery in the American league, considering those which remained as a battery pair through the years, consists of course, of Urban Faber and Ray Schalk.

REDS ON HEELS OF ST. LOUIS

Pirates Also Gain as They Defeat Chicago.

By defeating the Cardinals yesterday while the Pirates was knocking off the Cubs in 10 innings, the Cincinnati Reds again tightened the triangular National league race for the pennant. As matters stood this morning, the Cardinals led the Reds by less than a single game and Cincinnati, in turn, was the same distance beyond the Pirates. If the Reds succeed in beating the Cards again this afternoon, they will take the league lead by three points. If the Reds lose, the Pirates can go into second place with another victory over the Cubs.

The Cleveland Indians kept in the running for the American league flag by scoring their eighth straight victory, the Boston Red Sox being the victims. Meantime, the Yankees were getting an even break in Philadelphia, their lead thus being reduced to about 5 1-2 games.

Jess Petty piled up his fifteenth victory for the season when his Robins defeated the Phillies 4 to 3. The game just put Petty on the sunny side of the ledger, with one to the good. He has lost 14 of his pitched games.

Bancroft and Robbie Like Hornsby's Boys Because They Hustle

Loss of Wright Blow to Pirates, But They are Still in Race—Critics Concede St. Louis Battles in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh Will Count More Than Anything.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Quite a few of the wise men of the east continued to string with the St. Louis Cardinals regardless of the fact that they blocked one neatly with the chin yesterday in Cincinnati. This circumstance permitted both Reds and Pirates to pick up a full game, but seemed in nowise to affect the confidence being reposed hereabouts in Hornsby's outfit.

Dave Bancroft, Boston manager, likes them. Wilbert Robinson, of Brooklyn, likes them. So does the gent on the curb stone because the Cards have captured the popular fancy after the manner of the Washington Senators in 1924.

In fact, every one seems to like them with the possible exception of the Reds and Pirates. They probably hate 'em.

Bancroft's idea is that, everything else being equal, the club that hustles must win. He thinks the Cardinals are that club, but at the same times qualifies his statement by saying that he doesn't count the Pirates out of it. The Reds, he thinks, will not be able to stay with the situation once they start their last swing through the east.

Bancroft's Opinion.

"The St. Louis players fairly sparkle with aggressiveness and, while the Pirates are eager enough, they seem to take too much for granted," Bancroft said. "Their attitude seems to be that what has been done before can be done again and that all they have to do is to keep on playing good baseball and receive the pennant at the end of the season. Of course, they may be right, for the Pirates surely have the class.

"However, I prefer the Cardinals' spirit of fighting for every score, running out every hit and pulling every surprise they can think of. That is the kind of baseball that forces the breaks.

"The recent trouble on the Pirate club may have hurt the team but the biggest handicap is the loss of Wright. It is an entirely different outfit with that fellow in the line-up and, if they had him for the past month, there might have been a different story to tell.

"The Reds are a good, fighting club, too, and with their pitching, they can't go very far wrong. But they are not so good on the road and that is where this race will be won and lost."

The stout Mr. Robinson was not so garrulous and managed to reach a given point in the shortest possible time.

"The Cards looked like the best bet when I saw the three contenders last," he declared. "They surely made a mess out of my ball club. The race is too close, however, for any man to make an accurate prediction at this time but, if I was forced to make a choice, I'd take the Cardinals."

Perhaps the general trend of opinion has been influenced by the fact that St. Louis has a slightly better record against the eastern teams than Pittsburgh and considerable better than Cincinnati. The advantage over the Pirates in this respect is so slight as to be almost negligible, however.

Anyhow, the three remaining games in Cincinnati and the ensuing series in Pittsburgh probably will count more than anything that may happen later. If the Cards can knock off this pair, they won't have to worry about the east. If they can't they may not have to worry about anything.

The Pirates got back in the National league pennant race by defeating the Clubs 3 to 2 in a 10-inning pitching battle. The game was won when Kaufmann weakened in the tenth, after allowing only two hits in nine innings.

A TEST OF WHICH WE ARE PROUD

A CONTRACTING Company undertaking one of the largest road jobs now under way in this vicinity wanted the best possible gasoline for their valuable motor equipment. A motor fuel which would produce the maximum of power and yet at the same time not injure in the least those finely machined parts with which it came in contact.

With this in mind they secured samples of four different gasolines sold generally throughout this community and submitted them to the Brownlee Laboratories of Pittsburgh, Pa., national authorities on petroleum products.

The official report showed SUPER-FLASH at the head of the list. That is why they now permit nothing other than SUPER-FLASH gasoline and motor oil to be used in their equipment.

When better gasoline and motor oil can be made we will sell it.

harvest of 1925. Since July 1 last the government has reduced its estimate of corn production by 84,000,000 bushels now is forecast. The Department of Agriculture has stated officially that with the exception of winter wheat and rice all American grain crops will fall below last year, producing definite shortage.

The subject of long distance weather forecasting is one which has provoked much controversy but there is one group of scientists which adheres strongly to the belief that forecasts of weather conditions a year or more in advance are feasible. One school of thought on the subject now is predicting exceptionally unfavorable weather conditions for 1927. Coupled with the short grain crops this year and the fact that stocks are known to be low in nearly every country, such a prediction seems somewhat ominous.

Predictions of world-wide shortages amounting almost to famine are being made and farmers are being urged to plant as much as they can cultivate.

The long distance weather forecasters base their predictions on the contion of what in meteorology is known as the solar constant which is the measure of heat thrown off by the sun. It is asserted that changes have been taking place in the solar constant which indicate not only an intensely cold winter but a spring and summer in which temperatures will be far below normal and therefore destructive of crops. Thus, according to the predictions, the world faces a year in which production will be greatly below average, in a state of unpreparedness so far as supplies are concerned.

This year's wheat crop is estimated by the government to be 212,719,000 bushels. Add to this the Canadian crop, estimated at 316,960,000 bushels and a picture of the measure of preparedness of North America is shown.

harvest of 1925. Since July 1 last the government has reduced its estimate of corn production by 84,000,000 bushels now is forecast. The Department of Agriculture has stated officially that with the exception of winter wheat and rice all American grain crops will fall below last year, producing definite shortage.

The subject of long distance weather forecasting is one which has provoked much controversy but there is one group of scientists which adheres strongly to the belief that forecasts of weather conditions a year or more in advance are feasible. One school of thought on the subject now is predicting exceptionally unfavorable weather conditions for 1927. Coupled with the short grain crops this year and the fact that stocks are known to be low in nearly every country, such a prediction seems somewhat ominous.

Predictions of world wide shortages amounting almost to famine are being made and farmers are being urged to plant as much as they can cultivate.

The long distance weather forecasters base their predictions on the contion of what in meteorology is known as the solar constant which is the measure of heat thrown off by the sun. It is asserted that changes have been taking place in the solar constant which indicate not only an intensely cold winter but a spring and summer in which temperatures will be far below normal and therefore destructive of crops. Thus, according to the predictions, the world faces a year in which production will be greatly below average, in a state of unpreparedness so far as supplies are concerned.

This year's wheat crop is estimated by the government to be 212,719,000 bushels. Add to this the Canadian crop, estimated at 316,960,000 bushels and a picture of the measure of preparedness of North America is shown.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK ONE—X.

He took Eunice home and left her summarily on the bungalow's porch. She implored him to come in. "Why, you must, Jock! Brad will be so disappointed if he gets home and finds you didn't stop! He'll want to talk ovah the game with you—he's always so excited after a victory, and especially today, when he didn't think they'd win. And I've got tea! Please, Jock!"

"Sorry," Jock said firmly, "but I absolutely can't, Eunice. No this time. I've got to see a man."

There was truth in this, and the man whom he felt he must see was Bones Allen. He wanted to ask Bones many questions. Now. Since the episode of the whispering couple there were things that he felt he must find out, not later, but immediately.

The fraternity house was deserted when he reached it—his roadster had beaten pedestrians home from the game. He went on up to his room and there waited. Within five minutes a bang and a thump and a whoop of laughter announced the first arrivals. Within ten, the noise had grown to an uproar. Some one started the Victrola. Girls brought in their escorts for tea chattered shrilly, all at once, each striving to outchatter the other, as girls will when there are men to hear them. Then there came a stamp of heavy feet on the stairs, and Bones shouted, "Jock! Hey, Jock, are you up there? How's to bring the ole banjo and tweak us a little tune?"

"Come here!" said Jock.

Bones entered. "All the mommas have been paging you, as usual, and I—why, what's happened? Why the owly look?"

Jock spoke with a quiet force that sobered his roommate instantly. "Look here, Bones, I want you to tell me one thing and tell it straight. Just what's the general attitude on Brad Hathaway's wife and myself?"

"You ought to know. They kid you enough, don't they?"

"Sure, they kid me, and I know they think I like her pretty well and all that, but—why Bones, good Lord, they don't really believe there's anything wrong in it, do they?"

Bones hesitated. "Nobody in the fraternity does," he said at last slowly. "But some of the fellows outside who don't know you so well—well, I guess maybe some of them think there is" He scowled darkly "I had to sock one last year," he added.

"Who?"

"Never mind who. He's kept his mouth shut ever since, you don't need to worry about that."

"What did he say?" persisted Jack.

Bones told him.

"He said that? Some low-down skunk said that?" Swiftly as it had blazed up, Jock's anger sank again. "Oh well, hell," he continued, "he was probably somebody whose opinion isn't worth a hoot anyway. But it makes me sore just the same. Why would anybody, no matter who he was, think that? That's what I want to know. Just because I go over there a lot—or used to? Don't they understand that Brad's one of the best friends I've got in the world?"

Again Bones hesitated. "I don't like to razz a woman, particularly one you like, but honest, Jock, if you could hear Mrs. Hathaway talk you'd understand a whole lot better. For instance: remember that house dance we had last year in May? She was one of the chaperones, remember? Well, I heard her telling a roomful of girls and fellows all about how jealous her husband was of you. Boasting about it! Tickled to death about it! And later on I danced with her, and what do you think she said to me? She said, 'I hear you're going to room with my honey next year.' Well, now, what I mean, stuff like that from a married woman doesn't go down so good. It gives a wrong impression, and people who don't know you think—"

"Why, she's crazy!" Jock broke in excitedly. "She's crazy as a coot! Why, I've never even kissed the girl, Bones. I've never looked at her hardly. I don't even like her! And as for Brad being jealous, that's a downright damn lie, and the next time I see her I'm going to—"

"Thing to do," said Bones, "is not to see her. That'll stop the talk quicker than anything else. She can't say much about you if you never go around there, and the minute she quits yapping about it everybody else will. For cryin' out loud what did you take her to the game for?"

"Brad asked me to."

"You were on one side of the cheering-section," Bones went on, "and I was a mile away from you, on the other side. But I'll bet you hadn't been in your seats three minutes before the word came breezing along, 'Jock's got Eunice Hathaway here, and you oughta see the coat she has on!'"

Jock moaned. "That's what started this. Somebody back of us seemed to think I'd given Eunice the coat! At least I'm pretty sure that's what they said. It opened my eyes, I'll tell the world! I'd never thought till that minute that anybody was putting that kind of a construction on the thing." He took up his banjo and picked at one string thoughtfully. "Well, I'm cured," he finished. "I'm through going around there. Brad'll have to come here, from now on, if he and I are going to see each other."

When he went downstairs he was apparently in high spirits. But all the rest of that afternoon his heart was heavy with an odd cold sense of foreboding, insidious, impossible to dispel. "What's the matter with me?" he asked himself savagely. "Why should I feel like this? Nothing can happen as long as I stay away from there! Not a damn thing!"

But still the premonition clung, with clammy fingers.
